Media and fans can follow the Carolina men's lacrosse team and the rest of the UNC athletic program from anywhere in the world on the official web site of North Carolina athletics.

TarHeelBlue.com offers schedules, rosters, results, features and more for all 28 of Carolina's varsity sports.

Nike Supports UNC Men's Lacrosse

The University of North Carolina and Nike extended their agreement for eight more years beginning in July 2002. The agreement provides each varsity team with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other products. It also provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the athletic department to reward Olympic sports programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

Franklin Street in the heart of downtown Chapel Hill was a sea of revelers after the Tar Heels defeated Illinois in the 2005 NCAA Men's Basketball Championship Game 75-70 in St. Louis, Mo.

Carolina Men's Lacrosse

Bart Wagner has been UNC's leading scorer each of the last three years.

Senior Ben Hunt was third-team All-America midfielder in 2008 after scoring 21 goals.

Jack Ryan has been a starter on close defense each of the past two years.

These are exciting times for the University of North Carolina men's lacrosse program as the Tar Heels officially inaugurate the Joe Breschi coaching era on February 7, 2009 by hosting Robert Morris at Fetzer Field. Breschi, a 1990 Carolina graduate, returned to his alma mater as the head coach in June 2008 after an 11-year tenure at Ohio State where he rescued a Buckeye program from oblivion and made it into an NCAA Tournament calibre side.

Breschi is anxious to return the Tar Heel program to its past glory. He played and also served as an assistant coach at Carolina during a period of time when UNC made 12 final four appearances in a 14-year span from 1980 to 1993.

The Baltimore native who played his high school ball at Calvert Hall is also enthused about adapting UNC's style to one of his liking, a style which is also favored by today's collegiate players.

THE OFFENSE

"The offense will be transition style, pushing the ball from defense through our D-mids and LSMs," elaborates Breschi. "We will ask a lot of our defense throughout the year to pressure teams and put the ball on the ground to utilize our athletes in the transition game.

"We will run motion sets on 6v6 opportunities, attacking from every position on the offensive end, making our style difficult to defend. We will look for matchups that benefit our strengths as a team and put our guys in a position to be successful individually."

ATTACK

Expect the attack unit to be keyed by returning starters Bart Wagner (Glen Arm, Md.) and Gavin Petracca (Manhasset, N.Y.) with sophomore Billy Bitter (Stowe, Vt.) stepping in at the third starting spot for the graduated Michael B. Burns.

The top backups at the attack spots will be junior Kevin Federico (West Islip, N.Y.), true freshman Thomas Wood (Richmond, Va.) and senior Matthias McCall (Manteo, N.C.).

Wagner, who has led the Heels in scoring three straight seasons, will lead the unit. He has tremendous hands and vision and the ability to score in 6v6 and transition.

Bitter had a tremendous fall ball season for Carolina. He is a dynamic lefty dodger who can break down a defense at any time which helps to open up his teammates.

The steady Petracca is a versatile player who can dodge, finish and distribute the ball. Breschi feels he will fit the system well.

Federico is a lefty finisher who rides well and hustles all over the field. Breschi labels Wood as a right-handed Billy Bitter. A dynamic player, he can shoot the lights out of the ball. His skills are tremendous and he will be used at both attack and midfield. McCall is known for his ability to chase the ball all around the field. He is relentless in his love and enthusiasm for the game and his style of play illustrates that.

OFFENSE MIDFIELD

1st Line—Ben Hunt, Bobby McAuley and Sean Delaney

Breschi indicated in the fall that two seniors and a junior would play on the first line midfield this spring. This trio is Ben Hunt (Arnold, Md.), Bobby McAuley (Hicksville, N.Y.) and Sean Delaney (Moorestown, N.J.).

Hunt ranks as a major threat on the field and is described by Breschi as one of the best players in the game. Hunt has excellent skills both right-handed and left-handed and he puts major pressure on the defense every time he touches the ball. He is a down-hill dodger who is difficult to defend.

McAuley plays with a tremendous versatility in his game. He has the ability to control the game through great communication and skills set. He plays both a finesse and a physical style of lacrosse, creating issues for opponents. He has terrific hands and vision.

The third component in the first line is Delaney. Sean is the most physical dodger on the Tar Heel team. He actually looks for the contact and runs through the slides to get to the cage.

2nd Line—Sean Burke, Cryder DiPietro and Jimmy Dunster

Going into spring practice, Breschi lists his second line as consisting of junior Sean Burke (Fort Salonga, N.Y.), junior Cryder DiPietro (Ruxton, Md.) and freshman Jimmy Dunster (Cos Cob, Conn.).

Burke has tremendous talent, size and skills. He's a great athlete who can play both ends of the field to help bolster the Tar Heels' transition game. Breschi said keeping Burke healthy throughout the season will be a key to the squad's potential success.

DiPietro is a big middle who has solid skills and a terrific shot. He is one of the best shooters on the team with his hands free.

Freshman Dunster is an athlete who really came on in the fall, running the field and playing an aggressive style of offense. He attacks the cage well and worked on improving his shot in the off-season.

Breschi also said he expects to see redshirt sophomore Colin Sherwood (Greensboro, N.C.) and freshman Tyler Morton (Denver, Colo.) making an impact in the offensive midfield this season.

THE DEFENSE

"We will play an aggressive style of defense to put pressure on teams at the offensive end of the field," says Breschi. "We are looking to dic-

Redshirt junior Gavin Petracca was the third-leading scorer on the 2008 team.

Junior midfielder Sean Delaney was the most improved player on the 2008 team.

Redshirt sophomore Michael Burns returns to lead the defensive midfield unit.

tate the tempo of the game, playing man to man, zone, shut-offs and a high pressure style of lacrosse.

DEFENSIVE MIDFIELD

Breschi identified six players he expects to see in the mix in the d-mid area, citing three players who will see the bulk of the playing time, a group which consists of sophomore Chris Hunt (Arnold, Md.), redshirt sophomore Michael Burns (Medford Lakes, N.J.) and freshman Chris Layne (Downingtown, Pa.). Hunt showed tremendous athleticism in the fall, turning up the UNC transition game and playing an aggressive style of defense. He can shut down offensive middies but also be a threat on offense. Burns is the most physical defender at the midfield that the Tar Heels have. Another transition player who runs the field extremely well and can face-off with great success when Face-Off Yearbook preseason first-team All-America and All-ACC choice Shane Walterhoefer (Ellicott City, Md.) needs a rest. Burns' competitiveness is evident every time the Tar Heels step on the field.

Layne is a youngster the coaches moved to D-middie in the fall. He blossomed in the role with great confidence to defend and handle the ball between the lines. Tommy D'Alessandro (Charlotte, N.C.), Matt Davie (Syosset, N.Y.) and Logan Corey (Chapel Hill, N.C.) will also battle for playing time coming out of the fall.

LSM POSITION

Freshman Mark Staines (Gambrills, Md.) was the biggest surprise of the fall for the coaching staff. He has amazing athleticism between the lines and as a former middie his ball-handling skills make him a huge threat in transition. He will also face-off at times when needed.

Junior Michael Jarvis (Richmond, Va.) is improving every day. His size, stick skills and range make him difficult to beat in 1v1 situations. Sophomore Milton Lyles (Miami Gardens, Fla.) had a solid fall, switching between close defense and LSM. He has continued to improve his stick skills to add to his "fastest man on the team" title. Senior Pell George (Baltimore, Md.) and junior Kerry McCormick (Garden City, N.Y.) will also be counted on in the spring while sophomore Scott Bollert (Rancho Sante Fe, Calif.) is redshirting after off-season foot surgery.

CLOSE DEFENSE

Two of the starting positions on close defense appear set heading into the spring. Senior captain Jack Ryan (Darien, Conn.) has been an enforcer on defense, directing traffic and playing a physical style that has set the tone for the close D. An excellent athlete, Jack has solid skills and stick work to help with the clearing game.

Sophomore Ryan Flanagan (West Islip, N.Y.) is probably also set in a starting spot for the Tar Heels. Flanagan is a rangy defender with solid ability to defend in 1v1 situations. A terrific athlete, Ryan covers a lot of ground with his wing span, knocking down passes and creating havoc for the offense.

Five Tar Heels have all shown signs of gathering up the third starting spot. Breschi has indicated it may be defense by committee at this starting position. In the hunt are sophomore Kevin Piegare (Cold Spring Harbor, N.Y.), senior Andrew Pyke (Baltimore, Md.), junior Sean Jackson (Fairfax, Va.), redshirt junior Chris Cortina (Pennington, N.J.) and freshman Charlie McComas (Parkton, Md.)

GOALIE

The Tar Heels return one of the best netminders in the nation in redshirt senior Grant Zimmerman (Cockeysville, Md.), a preseason All-ACC selection as named by Face-Off Yearbook. Zimmerman will be in his third full-time year as UNC's starter after sharing the position as a freshman. He is a terrific stopper with great hands and the ability to run the defense. This past fall, he continued to work hard on his clearing game. His athleticism is amazing with great speed and the agility to be a threat outside the cage.

Senior captain Bobby McAuley will run in the first midfield unit.

Cryder DiPietro scored six man-up goals for the Tar Heels in 2008.

Sean Burke will run with the second midfield unit in 2009.

Freshman James Petracca (Manhasset, N.Y.), the younger brother of Gavin, had a tremendous fall, playing in all three fall ball games and saving over 65 percent of the shots he faced. He's a classic ball stopper with high energy and enthusiasm between the pipes. He continues to work on his clearing game and stick handling. Junior Chris Madalon (Darien, Conn.) will be redshirting during the 2009 season.

THE X

Carolina is fortunate in that it returns the player considered by many to be the top face-off man in the country in senior Shane Walterhoefer. "Walt" has set every conceivable record in the Tar Heel archives in three seasons and he now looks to hunt down players at the top of NCAA charts in his senior campaign. Both sophomore Michael Burns and freshman Mark Staines will be counted on as proven backups.

A DEEP BENCH

Midfielder
Fort Salonga, N.Y.

Coach Joe Breschi on Sean Burke

- Has the potential to be a dominant middle in the country if he remains healthy
- A major threat to the opposition based on his uncanny ability to score from anywhere on the field from the offensive end

General: Returning regular in the midfield who will run on the No. 2 midfield unit this year...two-year letterman...had a tremendous freshman year in 2007 but was held back by injury issues from having a spectacular sophomore year...Coach Breschi believes he has the potential to be a dominant midfield presence...a tremendous goal-scoring threat...younger brother of Brian Burke, starting UNC close defenseman from 2006-08.

2008 Season (Sophomore): A preseason injury lingered most of the season, cutting into his playing time and therefore his offensive numbers...played in the final 12 games after missing the first two matches of the season...had two goals and two assists but his defensive numbers were still outstanding with 17 ground balls and six caused turnovers.

2007 Season (Freshman): Played in all 16 games for the Tar Heels...was the team's sixth-leading scorer with 19 points...ranked fourth on the team with his nine assists...with 10 goals he was one of eight Tar Heels in double figures...had two goals in a game on four occasions — against Navy in the regular season, in the win over Johns Hopkins, against Fairfield and in the NCAA Tournament against Duke...had two assists in games against Navy and Virginia...his top point games were Navy with four and Johns Hopkins with three...had 13 ground balls with seven of them coming in the ACC and NCAA games against Duke.

Prep: Was one of the top-ranked recruits in the nation at offensive midfielder in 2006...graduated on June 3, 2006 from Saint Anthony's High School in South Huntington, N.Y. ...played four years of varsity lacrosse and football and one year of varsity basketball...played wide receiver on the gridiron, midfield on the lacrosse field and point guard in basketball...a lacrosse high school All-America...All-Long Island and All-Catholic Team selections...played on gold medal team at Under Armour All-Star Game...member of L.I. Empire State Games Team...was captain of lacrosse team as a senior...won the Brother Shane Burke Award as the outstanding athlete at Saint Anthony's...his gridiron honors included first-team All-State, first-team All-Long Island and All-New York Catholic League.

Personal: Sean Christian Burke was born February 12, 1988 in Manhasset, N.Y. ...is the son of Brian and Grace Burke...has two brothers, Brian, 22, and Kieran, 14, and one sister, Kelley, 19.

Dick Baddour

• Director of Athletics

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of the University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his 11 years as director, the UNC Department of Athletics has undergone a number of changes, yet remains one of the premier programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and in the nation.

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is among the largest in the nation. Carolina prides itself on a strong overall athletic program and finished 14th in the 2007-08 U.S. Sports Academy Directors' Cup, a measure of NCAA postseason success. The Tar Heels, inaugural winners of the Cup in 1994, have finished among the top 10 teams 12 times in the competition's 15 years. During Baddour's tenure, UNC has claimed 58 ACC Championships, more than any other school over that span.

Baddour is in his 42nd year of continuous service to the university. He graduated from UNC in 1966 and was appointed Assistant Dean of Men in 1967. He served as Assistant Dean of Admissions and Assistant Dean of the UNC School of Law and also earned a Master of Arts degree in education prior to joining the athletic department in 1986.

In 2001, he received the Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association.

Active in Chapel Hill community affairs, he is a past president of the Public School Foundation and has served on the Parks and Recreation Commission. He and his wife, Lynda, have two sons, Allen and David, and a daughter, Jennifer, as well as six grandchildren: Henry, Jack, Lauren, Johnathan, William, Julia.

Dr. Beth Miller

• Sr. Associate Director of Athletics

Beth Miller is in her 24th year supervising North Carolina's highly-successful 26-team Olympic Sports program and serves as UNC's Senior Woman Administrator. Miller is a 1968 alumna of Appalachian State University with a B.S. degree in health and physical education. She has a master's from ASU and earned a Doctor of Arts degree in physical education at Middle Tennessee State in 1974.

From 1969-72, Miller served as the head volleyball and basketball coach at Appalachian State. She became head volleyball coach at UNC in 1975 and led the Tar Heels to four consecutive ACC titles from 1980-83 and five postseason tournament appearances. She also coached softball at Carolina from 1978-79.

In 1979, Miller was named Athletic Business Manager. She retired from coaching volleyball after 1983, but continued to handle all financial affairs for the department through 1987. She has overseen UNC's Olympic Sports program since 1985.

Miller serves on the NCAA Committee on Women's Athletics, as well as a number of Atlantic Coast Conference committees, including those for women's basketball, women's golf and volleyball. She also is a member of UNC's Housing Advisory Board. Miller is a native of Landis, N.C.

Department of Athletics Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics has offered high quality athletic programs for many years. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to the University.

The mission of the Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop, and to serve the interests of the University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life. Coaches, as educators, are foundational to this process. In keeping with the University's efforts to offer programs of regional and national acclaim, the Department's athletic programs strive for competitive excellence within the Atlantic Coast Conference or other similar institutions. Through its athletic programs, the University seeks to unite students, faculty, staff and alumni in a common and shared experience. The Department seeks to contribute to the diversity of the University by offering opportunities for enhanced racial/ethnic, cultural and geographic representation.

To fulfill this mission, the Department, with the approval of the Board of Trust, has developed principles of operation to provide guidance and direction to its personnel. This Mission Statement and accompanying principles require strong dedication and commitment from all who participate in, coach in and support the Department of Athletics, tests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

Carolina Men's Lacrosse

Head Coach Joe Breschi

Joe Breschi, a 1990 University of North Carolina alumnus, first-team All-America defenseman and former assistant coach for the Tar Heels, became the 12th head men's lacrosse coach in Carolina history in an announcement

June 18, 2006 by Tar Heel Director of Athletics Dick Baddour. Breschi came to Chapel Hill from The Ohio State University where he had served as the head men's lacrosse coach for the previous 11 seasons. Breschi was an assistant coach at UNC and Brown University for seven seasons prior to his stint in Columbus with the Buckeyes and he has 18 seasons of collegiate coaching experience overall.

"I'm happy to welcome Joe Breschi as our lacrosse coach at Carolina," said Baddour. "Joe has done an outstanding job of building a fine program at Ohio State. I'm thrilled that he has decided to accept our offer. Joe had a tremendous playing career in Chapel Hill and it will be great to have him back as part of our athletic family."

"I'd like to thank Athletic Director Dick Baddour for the tremendous opportunity to be the head lacrosse coach at my alma mater," said Breschi "I made a commitment to be a Tar Heel 22 years ago to Hall of Fame Coach Willie Scroggs and now I have a chance to give back to the University, to the alumni and to the entire Carolina lacrosse family, all of whom had an extraordinary impact on my life. My family is thrilled for the new challenge that lies ahead and we can't wait to hit the ground running in Chapel Hill."

A native of Baltimore, Md., and a 1986 alumnus of the Loyola-Blakefield School, Breschi compiled a 92-63 overall record in his 11 years at OSU along with a 34-18 regular-season Great Western Lacrosse League mark. The Buckeyes shared GWLL regular-season titles in 1999, 2003 and 2008 and won the conference championship outright in 2004. The Buckeyes had seven winning seasons in their last eight years and made NCAA Tournament appearances in 2003, 2004 and 2008. Under Breschi, Ohio State had three double-figure winning seasons, going 10-3 in 1999, 12-4 in 2004 and 11-6 last season.

In Breschi's 11th season at OSU in 2008, the Buckeyes enjoyed their most successful campaign in school history. Ohio State finished 11-6 overall and won its first NCAA Tournament game in history by defeating No. 8-seeded Cornell 15-7 in the NCAA first round on the Big Red's home field in Ithaca, N.Y. The Buckeyes shared the Great Western Lacrosse League regular-season title with both Notre Dame and Denver and reached the finals of the first-ever GWLL Tournament. Amongst the Buckeyes 11

Breschi built Ohio State's program into a national contender in 11 seasons at the helm as his teams went 92-63 overall and 34-18 in the Great Western Lacrosse League.

wins in 2008 was a 14-11 triumph over North Carolina on April 12, 2008 in Baltimore. It was Ohio State's first win in 14 tries versus the Tar Heels.

Four Buckeyes were named All-Americas in 2008, including second-team attackman Kevin Buchanan, who was also the fifth pick in the 2008 Major League Lacrosse draft. Four Buckeyes were GWLL first-team selections in '08 and another four were second-team choices. He has coached Ohio State players to 128 academic All-Big Ten honors and 217 Ohio State Scholar-Athlete awards in his 11 seasons at Columbus. Breschi is a three-time GWLL coach of the year selection, gaining the nod in 1999, 2003 and 2004.

Breschi was one of the finest lacrosse players in the history of the Atlantic Coast Conference while playing for legendary UNC lacrosse coach Willie Scroggs from 1987-90. He was also a member of two U.S. National Teams. After graduating from Carolina in 1990, Breschi coached at his alma mater for two seasons before going to Brown University as the head assistant coach from 1993-97. Breschi was the chief assistant at UNC under Dave Klarmann in 1991 and 1992 and was part of a staff that captured ACC titles in 1991 and 1992 and UNC's fourth NCAA title in 1991. The Tar Heels compiled a stellar 28-3 record during Breschi's assistant coaching stint.

Success at North Carolina came not only as a coach for Breschi, but also as a player. He was an All-ACC selection in both 1989 and 1990 and was selected to play in the prestigious USILA North-South All-Star game in 1990. He was a first-team All-America pick on defense in 1990 and an honorable mention All-America in 1989. After captaining the Tar Heels his senior season to the NCAA semifinals and an ACC title, Breschi was selected as UNC's nominee for the 1990 Anthony J. McKevlin Award, given annually to the outstanding male athlete in the ACC. In 2002, Breschi was named to the prestigious Atlantic Coast Conference 50th Anniversary Men's Lacrosse Team, honoring the Top 50 players in league history. He was a member of U.S. National Teams that played in the World Lacrosse Games in 1994 and 1998. Breschi earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in communications from Carolina in 1990.

Breschi and his wife Julie have five children, the late Michael as well as, Samantha, 7, Abigail, 5, Lucy, 3, and Emily, 2.

Joe Breschi was a first-team All-America defenseman for the Tar Heels during his playing days from 1987-90.

Michael R. Breschi Scholarship Fund

Since the Michael R. Breschi Scholarship fund was created, more than 500 contributions have come from 26 states. The scholarship is awarded annually to a Ohio State lacrosse player – most likely a rising senior who fits former head coach Joe Breschi's criteria.

"It was started in memory of Michael and what he meant to me and my family in the three and a half years that he was with us," Breschi said. "And it's a way to keep his memory alive in all of us, in the Ohio State program and in what I did at Ohio State. And it's a tribute to him and an opportunity to give to a young man who exemplifies the spirit of Michael."

Carolina Men's Lacrosse

Head Assistant Coach Pat Myers

Pat Myers, the men's lacrosse offensive coordinator and head assistant coach at Bucknell University the past three seasons, was named head assistant coach and offensive coordinator for the University of North Carolina men's lacrosse program last July. Tar Heel head coach Joe Breschi rounded out his staff with the hiring of Myers.

Myers has been designated by Breschi as the chief assistant on his staff and Myers will also serve as the program's recruiting coordinator.

Breschi, a 1990 UNC alumnus, was named in June 2008 as the Tar Heels' new head coach after he spent 11 seasons as the head coach at Ohio State. Myers joined Breschi as well as full-time assistant coach Greg Paradine, who has been on the Tar Heel staff since 2002, and new volunteer assistant coach Brian Holman in completing Breschi's coaching staff for the 2008-09 school year.

Myers came to Chapel Hill after completing assistant coaching stints at three other schools – Bucknell University, Cornell University and his alma mater, The Ohio State University. Myers was a standout lacrosse player at OSU from 2000-03 and was recruited to be a Buckeye by Breschi himself, who started his tenure in Columbus in 1997.

Myers earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Sport and Leisure Studies in June 2003 from Ohio State with a specialization in coaching and leisure management. He was a four-year Dean's List student at Ohio State and was named a Ohio State Scholar-Athlete. He was named to the Academic All-Big Ten honor squad three successive years from 2001-03.

A native of Maine, Myers has been an assistant coach on the collegiate level the past five seasons, every year since his graduate from Ohio State. He was the volunteer assistant coach at Ohio State in 2004, an assistant coach at Cornell University in 2005 and the offensive coordinator at Bucknell the past three seasons. At Bucknell, he was the offensive coordinator, the head assistant coach, the recruiting coordinator, the strength and conditioning supervisor and the academic monitor on the Bison staff.

In 2008, Bucknell matched its highest U.S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association ranking in school history at No. 9 during the course of the season. The Bison finished 10-5 overall and 4-2 in the Patriot League while also reaching the championship game of the conference tournament. In 2007, Bucknell finished 11-4, achieved a mid-year ranking of 11th and a final national rating of 19th. In his first year on the Bucknell staff in 2006, Myers helped lead the Bison to an upset of top-ranked Maryland, the first-ever win in Bucknell history over a No. 1-ranked team.

Myers coordinated an offense at Bucknell that produced the past two Patriot League Rookies-of-the-Year – Joe Mele and Austin Winter – and also aided Winter in winning All-America accolades in 2008.

Prior to his stint in Lewisburg, Pa., Myers was an assistant coach at Cornell University in 2005 when the Big Red went 11-3 overall and 6-0 in the Ivy League standings. The Cornell Big Red reached the NCAA quarterfinals that season and had its highest regular-season ranking since 1987 when the Big Red reached No. 3 in the nation. The 2005 squad was also the first Big Red team to go undefeated in the Ivy League in 18 years. Myers assisted in coordinating an offense that averaged 12.08 goals per game, ranking No. 3 in the nation in scoring offense.

After playing at Ohio State, Myers spent a season on the staff there as the volunteer assistant coach in 2004. The Buckeyes went 12-4 that season, achieved a sterling record of 5-0 in the Great Western Lacrosse League to win the league title, earned an NCAA Tournament invitation for the first time in history and achieved the highest ranking in Buckeyes' lacrosse history at No. 6. Ironically the Buckeyes were knocked out the NCAA Tournament by North Carolina.

Myers played collegiately at OSU from 2000-03. He was the Great Western Lacrosse League's Rookie-of-the-Year in 2000 and a two-time All-Great Western Lacrosse League first-team selection in 2002 and 2003. He played in the USILA

North-South All-Star Game at the conclusion of the 2003 campaign. In 2005, Myers was one of 120 players selected to try out for Team USA that competed at the 2006 World Games.

Myers was selected by the Boston Cannons of Major League Lacrosse in the supplemental draft in 2004. He played four seasons for the Cannons from 2004-2007.

Myers' girlfriend, Lauren Bricker, teaches eighth grade science at A.L. Stanback Middle School while coaching track and basketball. She is a 2007 graduate of Bucknell where she competed in track and cross country.

Greg Paradine, a former first-team All-America and All-ACC defenseman at the University of North Carolina, rejoined the Tar Heel men's lacrosse coaching staff in September 2002.

Paradine is now in his second tour of duty as an assistant coach at Carolina, beginning his seventh season on the staff in the current stretch.

Paradine was retained by new head coach Joe Breschi when he organized his 2009 staff after being hired last June. Paradine and Breschi played together at Carolina for one year and Breschi was an assistant coach at UNC with teams in 1991 and 1992 on which Paradine competed. That 1991 team was a national championship Tar Heel side.

Paradine oversees defensive coaching responsibilities, all equipment needs, coordination of team video service and scheduling of team travel needs.

Paradine is also a tireless recruiter for the Tar Heel lacrosse program, playing a major role for the Tar Heels since he returned to Chapel Hill. He has helped secure five consecutive Top 10 recruiting classes as rated by Inside Lacrosse – the No. 6 class in 2005 for freshmen playing their collegiate first seasons that spring, the No. 4 class in 2006, the No. 7 class in 2007, the No. 7 class in 2008 and the No. 6 class in 2009, comprising the current freshman class.

In his first three seasons back in Chapel Hill, Paradine worked primarily with the Tar Heel defense and served as UNC's substitution box coach. From 2006-08, he was the squad's offensive coordinator in addition to his other administrative duties.

In 2004, Paradine oversaw the development of Ronnie Staines into a first-team All-

America defenseman. Staines became the first Tar Heel to cop first-team honors since 1993 when Paradine himself joined teammate Alex Martin on the No. 1 USILA All-America squad. Stephen McElduff was also an honorable mention All-America choice in 2004 for the Tar Heels as Carolina limited opponents to 8.78 goals per game. McElduff was named a third-team All-America in 2005 as Carolina held opponents to 9.54 goals per game.

After switching to offense, Carolina improved its goals per game averages about the 10 mark by scoring 10.91 in 2007 and 10.00 in 2008.

Paradine graduated from UNC in December 1993 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in geography. He was a four-year letterman in lacrosse for the Tar Heels from 1990-93. He played on four ACC tournament championship teams at Carolina as well as teams which appeared in four NCAA Tournaments, winning the NCAA championship in 1991, finishing as the runner-up in 1993 and making the semifinals in 1990 and 1992.

Paradine was an honorable mention All-America selection as a junior in 1992 and a first-team All-America selection as a senior in 1993. He was also chosen All-ACC in 1992 and 1993. He was named to the All-ACC Tournament team in 1993.

Immediately before returning to Carolina, Paradine served as the head lacrosse coach at Chapel Hill High School from 1998-2002. He led the Tigers to PAC-Six Conference titles in 2000, 2001 and 2002 and was named the PAC-Six Coach-of-the-Year in 2001. The Tigers were the North Carolina High School Lacrosse Association runner-up in both '01 and '02. He coached three high school All-Americans at CHHS.

Paradine received his teacher certification from the North Carolina Central University School of Education in December 1998. Prior to his return to UNC, he was employed for three years as a teacher at Mary Scroggs Elementary School in the Chapel Hill/Carrboro city school system.

Paradine was an assistant coach at Carolina for two years from August 1995 to May 1997. He also coached as an assistant at Ohio State University from January 1994 to May 1995.

Greg Paradine (#41) starred as an All-America defenseman for the Tar Heels from 1990-93.

Carolina Men's Lacrosse

Volunteer Assistant Coach Brian Holman

Brian Holman, a former standout lacrosse player at Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, was named this past June as the new volunteer assistant coach for the University of North Carolina men's lacrosse program. The appointment was made by new Tar Heel head coach Joe Breschi. Holman replaced 10-year volunteer assistant Pat Olmert, who retired in order to spend more time with his family and devote time to his mortgage business.

Brian Holman has been involved in lacrosse at all levels for the past 30 years, as player, coach and parent.

Holman attended Johns Hopkins University and was a member of the Class of 1983. As a player at Hopkins he was a three-time All-America selection as a goalkeeper and he played in four NCAA Championship games in 1980, 1981, 1982 and 1983. As a freshman in 1980 he was part of an NCAA championship team in Johns Hopkins lacrosse lore.

He was a volunteer assistant goalie coach and defensive coordinator at Johns Hopkins for seven years, assistant coach at the Boys' Latin School of Maryland for four years, head coach for five years in the Maryland Youth Lacrosse Association and he served three years as head coach of the Breaker's Club Lacrosse Team in Baltimore, Md.

The Brian Holman Family – Marcus, 17, who will attend UNC next on a lacrosse scholarship and is currently a senior at The Gilman School; Matthew, 19, currently a freshman backup goalie at UMBC on Coach Don Zimmerman's squad, Brian's wife Laurie and the youngest sibling, Sydney, 14, who will attend East Chapel Hill High next fall and currently attends Bryn Mawr in Baltimore.

Fetzer Field serves as the home of the Tar Heels for the men's lacrosse program at the University of North Carolina.

In Fetzer Field, the North Carolina men's lacrosse program enjoys one of the premier lacrosse domains in the nation.

Originally built in 1935 and undergoing significant improvements from 1988 to 1990, the facility has been host to NCAA men's lacrosse tournament games on several occasions, most recently in 2008.

Named for former Tar Heel athletic director and track coach Bob Fetzer, Fetzer Field has been the home of Carolina soccer since 1947, the first year UNC sponsored a varsity men's soccer team and Carolina men's lacrosse since 1949, the starting year for that varsity sports program. The women's soccer program was started in 1979 and the Fetzer Field has been the home of the University of North Carolina men's lacrosse team since the first varsity season in 1949. UNC's all-time record at Fetzer heading into the 2009 season is 224-111-2. Large enthusiastic crowds are a staple at Fetzer for men's and women's lacrosse and men's and women's soccer matches, all involving nationally-ranked Tar Heel teams.

women's lacrosse program in 1996. All those sports call Fetzer Field home for their regular-season and post-season tournaments games.

Located in the heart of the Carolina campus directly adjacent to Carmichael Auditorium on South Road (N.C. State Road 54), the field was completed in 1935 as a Works Project Administration program during the tenure of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The facility's renovations two decades ago made it one of the most beautiful all-around collegiate venues in the nation. The playing field itself was reworked and leveled, the grandstand was refitted with new aluminum bleachers, a new track was installed, lights were added, two convenient ticket booths were added to the front gate and a computerized scoreboard and message center was installed. Even more recently the facilities' concession areas have been revamped so they are more convenient for fans. There are also plans in the works for another complete updating of the facility in the next few years.

Currently Fetzer Field is the home facility for six of Carolina's 28 varsity teams — men's soccer, women's soccer, men's outdoor track and field, women's outdoor track and field, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse.

The facility has been home not only to women's and men's soccer NCAA and ACC Championship events, but also numerous ACC Outdoor Track and Field Championships, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association Track and Field Championships, the National Junior Olympics, men's and women's lacrosse ACC Tournaments and first round, quarterfinal and semifinal action in the NCAA tournament play. In the summer of 1996, the facility was the home training site for the United States Track and Field Team as it prepared for the Summer Olympic Games in Atlanta.

Carolina won its fourth NCAA championship in 1991.

Andy Smith played on the 1981 & 1982 NCAA title teams.

The Humble Beginnings of a Vaunted Program

Lacrosse, a sport invented by the Native American Indians and played long before the first European settlers first visited the shores of North America, was first introduced at the University of North Carolina in 1937 on a club sport team basis.

The first Carolina teams in the late 1930s used the football team's discarded helmets and cleats until team members could afford to buy their own helmets, gloves and sticks. The team played its home games on a field across the street from Woollen Gymnasium.

In those days, Carolina played in what was called the Dixie Lacrosse League with fellow conference members Duke, Virginia, Washington & Lee, Loyola and the Washington Lacrosse Club. The initial Carolina teams of the late 1930s were coached by Albert C. Cornsweet, a 1929 graduate of Brown University.

Most of the players on those early lacrosse teams worked part-time jobs in order to stay in school. After all, it was the heart of the Great Depression and most college students needed to supplement their incomes. There were some scholarship football players who competed in the sport as well. Rumor has it that Carolina head football coach Ray Wolf made his players compete in lacrosse so they'd learn how to run. Wolf had an appreciation of the sport and wanted to use it to his advantage by helping keep his players in shape during the football off-season, knowing lacrosse players competed in a sport where participants ran and ran and ran some more.

In the late 1940s, Bill Darden was hired by the athletic department as a member of the business office staff and he also began to coach the lacrosse team at UNC. Varsity status was officially awarded by the athletic department after a period of time and monogram awards were first granted beginning with the 1949 team, officially making it Carolina's initial varsity unit.

The school was admitted as a member of the U.S. Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association (USILA) in 1950 and has remained a member since that time. The 1951 team featured the program's first official All-America player. Nick Sowell was named the first-team All-America goalie that year by the USILA.

After soccer and lacrosse head coach Alan Moore left Chapel Hill following the 1953 campaign, the 1954 squad was coached by George Good, a captain in the U.S. Marine Corps, and it posted a disappointing 0-6 mark. It proved to be a less than stellar ledger and an ominous signal because after a six-year period from 1949-54, the team's status as a varsity sport at Carolina came to an end. The athletic department at that time began to focus on other sports. For a decade the men's lacrosse program at the University would lay dormant—a club team existed and played outside competition but was no longer recognized by the athletic department as a varsity program. By no means, however, was lacrosse permanently vanquished to the scrap heap.

Permanent Varsity Status Granted to Lacrosse in 1964

Lacrosse was resurrected at Carolina in 1964 as a varsity program under the leadership of athletic director Chuck Erickson. Erickson wanted to add a sport to improve Carolina's standing in the Carmichael Cup, the annual all-sports trophy in the ACC at that time. Even if Erickson's initial intention was to improve UNC's Carmichael Cup standing the move proved brilliant as within 17 years the Heels became a national championship team.

The UNC program competed on the varsity level without awarding scholarships for 10 years. Carolina upgraded the program with the awarding of scholarships after the hiring of head coach Paul Doty during the 1973-74 school year. The Tar Heels also transitioned from an NCAA small college program (the equivalent of what is now the Division II and III levels combined) to NCAA Division I status in 1974 with the awarding of scholarships. Suddenly the Tar Heels were competitive with the top teams in the nation.

Despite its rather brief history on campus in comparison to other UNC sports which date back to the early decades of the 20th century or even the late decades of the 19th century, North Carolina lacrosse has been something very special in its time on campus from 1949-54 and 1964 to the present.

Since 1949 the all-time Tar Heel record stands at 384-248-2. Tar Heel teams have won NCAA Division I national championships four times, earning crowns in 1981, 1982, 1986 and 1991. Carolina teams have also captured 11 Atlantic Coast Conference championships—all in a period spanning just 16 seasons from 1981-96. The championships were won in 1981, 1982, 1985, 1988, 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1993, 1994 and 1996.

The 1981 and 1982 teams won 26 games in succession, recording one of the longest winning streaks in collegiate lacrosse history. Twenty-three times since first qualifying in 1976, the Tar Heels have competed in the NCAA Division I Men's Lacrosse Championship. Only five schools (Johns Hopkins, Maryland, Virginia, Syracuse and Navy) have played in the NCAA Division I Men's Lacrosse Tournament more often than Carolina has.

Tremendous growth in the program occurred beginning in the late 1960s after the sport gained a foothold in Chapel Hill. After a pair of losing seasons in 1966 and 1967, Jim Bischoff, whose team was winless in 1967, coached the Tar Heels to a much improved 7-4 mark in 1968. In addition, Bischoff's 1968 team was the first Tar Heel squad to earn a national ranking from the USILA at 25th in the final poll.

Mueller Tutors the Likes of Kramer and Peterson

In 1969, Fred Mueller, a long-time professor in UNC's Department of Exercise and Sports Science, began a successful four-year run as UNC's head coach. The 1970 Tar Heels ranked as Mueller's best team as they finished seventh in the country in the USILA poll with a 9-2 record. That team would likely have been the first UNC squad to earn an NCAA Tournament bid but the first championship sponsored by the NCAA came a year later in 1971.

Among Mueller's greatest players was Peter Kramer, who won the C.M. Kelly, Jr. Memorial Cup as the nation's outstanding goalkeeper in 1969. Attackman Harper Peterson copped honors as a first-team All-America three times in his career and Kramer was a three-time honoree as well.

Tar Heel head fencing coach Ron Miller ended up with double head coaching duties while taking over the lacrosse coaching reins on an interim basis for one season in 1973. Miller led the team to a 12-5 record in 1973. Those 12 wins stood as Carolina's school record for victories in a season until the mark was broken by the 1982 national championship squad when that team finished with a 14-0 ledger. The Tar Heels also set a school record in 1973 for regular-season games played in a season with 17 contests on the docket.

Carolina lacrosse entered a new era in 1974 when the program hired Paul Doty as the first full-time head coach in school history. That same year, the team was elevated to scholarship status with the first athletic grants-in-aid in the sport being awarded during the 1974 season.

Doty led UNC to national Top 10 rankings in both 1976 and 1977 and to UNC's first two NCAA Division I Tournament appearances those same two seasons. Another program milestone achieved under Doty's tutelage was Carolina's 13-10 victory over Virginia during the 1976 season. It marked the first time Carolina had ever defeated either Maryland or Virginia as a varsity team, the two schools which had dominated ACC lacrosse up to that point in time. UNC's first win over Maryland would not come until 1981, however.

An Era of Excellence under Willie Scroggs

In 1978, UNC went to the hotbed of college lacrosse, Johns Hopkins University, and hired the Blue Jays' top assistant coach, Willie Scroggs, as the Tar Heels' new head coach. It was a move that bore fruit for a dozen years. Scroggs retired from coaching at the end of the 1990 season to become a senior associate athletic director at UNC, ending a brief but brilliant coaching tenure.

The initial decision to pursue Scroggs was made by Tar Heel athletic director Bill Cobey whose philosophy was that a person needed to go to the best programs in the sport and recruit a top assistant coach in order to build a winning program.

Tar Heel teams were 120-37 during the Scroggs era and were invited to the NCAA Tournament 11 straight seasons from 1980 through 1990. In nine of Scroggs' 12 years, UNC made the NCAA Tournament semifinal round and the 1981, 1982 and 1986 squads won the NCAA Division I championship. The Tar Heels were 17-8 in NCAA post-season play during his tenure. Scroggs' teams won ACC titles in 1981, 1982, 1985, 1988, 1989 and 1990. In addition, the 1982 team finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in the final USILA poll.

When Scroggs announced his retirement immediately after Carolina's NCAA semifinal loss to Syracuse in 1990, the University turned to Dave Klarmann, who had been the top assistant to Scroggs for 11 seasons. The move paid off in instantaneous results. In Klarmann's first season at the helm of the Tar Heels, he led the team to a 16-0 record and the 1991 NCAA and ACC championships. That team also finished first in the USILA poll for only the second time in school history.

After an ACC championship and an appearance in the NCAA semifinals in 1992, the Tar Heels had another banner season the following year. In 1993, the Tar Heels again finished first in the USILA national coaches' poll, marking the second such finish in Klarmann's coaching tenure and the third in the history of Tar Heel lacrosse. Carolina also advanced to the NCAA championship game for the fifth time in history in 1993, dropping a scintillating 13-12 decision to Syracuse on a fast-break goal by the Orangemen in the final seconds of play. Playing with Scroggs' last class of recruits as members of the senior class in 1994, UNC won its seventh straight ACC crown. Carolina won the ACC title again in 1996, the last time the Tar Heels have done so as the Tar Heels routed Duke in the semifinals and upset eventual NCAA finalist Virginia to claim the crown behind a brilliant goalkeeping performance by Brooks Brown.

Klarmann resigned his coaching position following the 2000 season after leading Carolina to five ACC championships in his tenure. In his last game as the Tar Heel head coach in 2000 he earned his 100th career victory as the Tar Heels defeated Lehigh.

Carolina athletic director Dick Baddour then employed the same plan used by Cobey in 1978 and he went to lacrosse power Johns Hopkins to find the new head coach for the Heels, this time hiring the Blue Jays' two-year head coach, John Haus, to lead Carolina into the new millennium. The hire of Haus bore fruit as the Carolina program returned to the NCAA Tournament in 2004 for the first time since 1998, winning its first NCAA game since 1993 in the process. Carolina again played in the NCAA Tournament in 2007, reaching the NCAA quarterfinal round a second time in four seasons. The Tar Heels reached the NCAA Tournament again in 2008.

At the conclusion of the '08 season, Haus announced his resignation. Baddour then hired Ohio State coach Joe Breschi, a 1990 UNC alumnus to lead the Tar Heel program.

Stellar Play in the NCAA Tournament

In winning four NCAA championships since 1981, Carolina teams have been involved in some of the most exciting games in the tournament's 38-year history.

In 1981, UNC went through the regular season unbeaten and it was ranked No. 2 in the nation behind three-time defending national champion Johns Hopkins entering the tournament. The Tar Heels recorded lopsided wins over Syracuse and Navy in Chapel Hill in the first two rounds of the tournament before meeting the unbeaten Blue Jays in the national championship game at Princeton University's Palmer Stadium. Before a crowd of 13,943, UNC scored six straight goals over a span that bridged the third and fourth quarters to overcome a three-goal Johns Hopkins advantage and the Heels eventually triumphed by a 14-13 margin.

In 1982, the Tar Heels swept through the regular season unscathed once again. In the NCAA Tournament, UNC routed Navy and Cornell in games at Fetzer Field, setting up a championship game rematch with Johns Hopkins. In a game dominated by the two teams' defenses, UNC beat the Blue Jays 7-5 behind five goals by junior attackman David Wingate and brilliant goalkeeping by Tom Sears who was the consensus choice as that year's national player of the year.

Carolina's third NCAA championship came in 1986 and it was clearly the most unexpected of the quartet of crowns that have been won by UNC. The Tar Heels were seeded fifth going into the tournament. No team seeded lower than fourth had ever made the championship game prior to the 1986 season and none seeded lower than third had ever won the title. That Carolina team remains, 23 years later, the lowest seeded team to capture the NCAA crown.

Carolina History

Ironically, in winning the national championship, the Tar Heels avenged all three of their regular-season losses and in the exact same order in which they had lost to those teams earlier in the 1986 season. After a 12-10 quarterfinal win at Byrd Stadium against Maryland, UNC headed to the first-ever NCAA lacrosse final four, an institution now embedded in the culture of the sport every Memorial Day weekend. Embarking for Newark, Del., Carolina was well prepared for the semifinals and it avenged a 16-4 regular-season loss to two-time defending NCAA champion Johns Hopkins by beating the Blue Jays 10-9 in overtime. Carolina won the game on senior Mike Tummillo's goal off a Gary Seivold assist a little over two minutes into the extra period.

Two days later against Virginia, UNC and the Cavaliers traded the lead throughout the championship contest with neither team ever holding more than a two-goal advantage at any time. Another overtime period was required to settle the issue and Gary Seivold came through again, scoring an unassisted goal 1:50 into the extra session to give the title to Carolina.

Like the 1981 and 1982 teams, 1991's national championship team finished the season unbeaten. UNC opened NCAA Tournament play by defeating Loyola 11-9 in the quarterfinals at a rain-soaked Fetzer Field. Six days later, the Tar Heels handed Syracuse its first NCAA home play-off loss in history as Carolina routed the Orangemen 19-13 at the Carrier Dome.

Two days later against Cinderella NCAA finalist Towson, Carolina led 11-4 at the half, but saw the lead shrink to a single goal in the fourth quarter before going on to win the game 18-13. The Tar Heel victory was led by senior attackman Dennis Goldstein, the National Player-of-the-Year, who was the championship game's Most Valuable Player. Goldstein led UNC past Syracuse with four goals and he added four goals and four assists in the title game against Towson.

A Bevy of All-America Selections and USILA Award Winners

Over the past 30 seasons, UNC players have earned 132 All-America accolades and 83 All-Atlantic Coast Conference citations.

Nine Tar Heels have been named ACC Player-of-the-Year — attackman Michael Burnett in 1981, goalkeeper Tom Sears in 1982, defenseman Randy Cox in 1984, attackman Mac Ford in 1985, defenseman Graham Harden in 1991, defenseman Alex Martin in 1992, midfielder Ryan Wade in both 1993 and 1994 and midfielder Jason Wade in 1996.

Scroggs was tapped as ACC Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 and Klarman won the same honor in 1991, 1993, 1994 and 1996. In 1989, midfielder Jim Buczek was named as the ACC Rookie-of-the-Year. Attackman Jeff Sonke won the same award in 1998. Seven ACC Tournament Most Valuable Players have been Tar Heels — attackman Michael Thomas in 1989, defenseman Joe Breschi in 1990, attackman Dennis Goldstein in 1991, attackman John Webster in 1992, attackman Dan Levy in 1993, goalkeeper Rocco D'Andrea in 1994 and goalkeeper Brooks Brown in 1996.

Carolina has had at least one first-team All-America selection in 18 of 30 seasons since 1979. In 1981, 1991 and 1993, UNC had three first-team selections and the 1984, 1985, 1992, 1996 and 2004 squads had two each. In 1982, five of the 11 players named to the first-team All-America squad were Tar Heels, a rather astounding feat.

Peter Kramer started Carolina's long list of USILA award winners when he won the C.M. Kelly, Jr. Memorial Cup as the nation's top goalie in 1969. In 1981 and 1982, Tom Sears won the Kelly Award as the nation's outstanding goalkeeper. In 1982, he also captured the Enners Award as the National Player-of-the-Year and the Brine Award as the outstanding player in the NCAA championship game.

A year later, in 1983, Peter Voelkel won the McLaughlin Award as the nation's outstanding midfielder. In 1984, Tom Haus won the first of his three Schmeisser Cups as the nation's outstanding defensive player. He went on to win the Schmeisser Cup again in 1986 and 1987. In 1986, Haus was also tapped for the Enners Award as National Player-of-the-Year. Gary Seivold's two-goal, two-assist effort in the 1986 NCAA championship game win over Virginia earned him the Brine Award as the game's Most Valuable Player.

Carolina added to that jackpot of top awards during the 1991 season.

The USILA tapped Goldstein as the National Player-of-the-Year as well as the MVP of the NCAA championship game after scoring four goals and adding four assists in the 18-13 victory over Towson. Also in 1991, Graham Harden captured the Schmeisser Cup as the top defenseman in the nation and Andy Piazza became the first Tar Heel to win the Kelly Award as the nation's top goalie since Sears won the honor in 1982.

In 1992, Jim Buczek won the McLaughlin Award as the nation's top midfielder. A year later, the USILA honored Ryan Wade as the top midfielder in America. Ryan Wade's younger brother, Jason Wade, won the McLaughlin Award as the nation's top midfield performer in 1996.

Scroggs was named National Coach-of-the-Year in 1981 by the USILA and he was an assistant coach for the U.S. team which won the title at the 1982 World Lacrosse Games in Baltimore. Sears was the starting goalkeeper for that U.S. team and was named the All-World goalie. Midfielder Joey Seivold, '87, and defenseman Randy Cox, '84, both played on the U.S. team which won the title at the 1986 World Lacrosse Games in Toronto. Three other Tar Heels, Steve Stenersen, '82, Peter Voelkel, '83, and Mac Ford, '85, were alternates on that team.

Mac Ford went on to play on the U.S. team which swept to the title at the 1990 World Lacrosse Games in Dan Collins' overtime goal upset defending NCAA champ Princeton in 1989.

Steve Martel and Pat Welsh after Welsh's last-second goal beat Hopkins in 1985.

Australian Robin Cornish was a key player on the 1991 NCAA winning team.

Perth, Australia. He was named the top attackman from amongst the four nations that competed in the tournament. UNC midfielder Robin Cornish, a native of Perth, competed in the 1990 World Lacrosse Games as a middle on the host Aussie squad.

Carolina sent two representatives to the 1994 World Lacrosse Games in Manchester, England as the Americans won yet again. Former UNC defenseman Joe Breschi, '90, and midfielder Ryan Wade, '94, were stars on the U.S. team. The World Lacrosse Games returned to the United States again in 1998 and both Breschi and Wade made return engagements as members of the American team.

Most recently in the summer of 2005, four Tar Heel players were invited to the U.S. National Team try-outs for the 2006 World Lacrosse Championship. The quartet including goalkeeper Billy Daye, '93, attackman Jeff Sonke, '01, attackman Jed Prossner, '05, and defenseman Stephen McElduff, '06.

A Legacy of Great Players

In 1979, defenseman Ralph "Rip" Davy, who passed away in 2008, became the first Tar Heel to be named a first-team All-America under coach Willie Scroggs. Midfielder Kevin Griswold earned similar honors a year later and was a key player on the 1981 and '82 title teams. Defenseman Gary Burns, '82, was named to All-America teams on three occasions. Midfielder Doug Hall was a hero of the 1981 NCAA championship game victory, scoring three goals, and he was a first-team All-America that season.

Jeff Homire, another midfielder was a first-team All-America in 1982. Chris Walker, '87, was a three-time All-America selection on defense. He played much of his career with the talented Boyd Harden, a first-team All-America in 1988.

The brothers Seivold, Joey a midfielder and Gary an attackman, both of whom graduated in 1987, won USILA All-America honors each of their four years while wearing the Carolina Blue and White.

Another standout defenseman was Joe Breschi, who led Tar Heel teams to the NCAA semifinals in both 1989 and '90. In 1993, the Tar Heels said good-bye to a quartet of outstanding talents. Attackman John Webster left Carolina amongst career leaders in goals (109), assists (79) and points (188). Midfielder Donnie McNichol had a team-leading 109 ground balls in 1993. In addition, his .740 faceoff percentage established a school record. Defensemen Alex Martin and Greg Paradine were also spectacular players of the early 1990s. Both were first-team All-America choices. The 1996 senior class included the likes of first-team All-America midfielders Jude Collins and Jason Wade. Attackman Jeff Sonke was a second-team choice in 2000 and 2001 on attack.

Jed Prossner earned first-team All-America honors in 2004, the first UNC attackman to win them since Dennis Goldstein in 1991. Ronnie Staines was a first-team All-America on defense in 2004, the first Tar Heel defender since Paradine and Martin won first-team accolades on defense in 1993.

Prossner went on to be named a first-team All-America attackman again in 2005, so honored despite a 5-8 UNC record. Prossner was only the third Tar Heel attackman in history to win first-team All-America in two or more years, joining Harper Peterson and Michael Burnett.

Prossner, who was the second overall pick in the 2005 Major Lacrosse League draft, also won All-ACC honors in 2005 for the third straight year. No Tar Heel had made the All-ACC team three years in a row since 1983.

Prossner and fellow 2005 senior Mike McCall finished their careers as two of the most prolific goal scorers in Carolina history. Prossner scored 113 goals to rank No. 2 in UNC history while McCall scored 102 goals to move him into a tie for No. 6 on the career chart.

Senior goalkeeper Paul Spellman also broke the UNC career record for saves in 2005, breaking the mark that had stood since 1983 when Tom Sears established it.

Fifteen Tar Heels Named to ACC Top 50 Team

Three Tar Heels have been inducted into the U.S. Lacrosse Hall of Fame—former head coach Willie Scroggs in 2003, three-time national defenseman of the year Tom Haus in 2005 and star goalkeeper Tom Sears in 2007.

In 2002, when the ACC announced its Top 50 players in each sport to celebrate a half century of the league's existence, 15 Tar Heel players were tapped amongst the Top 50.

This group included defenseman Joe Breschi, '90, midfielder Jim Buczek, '92, attackman Michael Burnett, '83, defenseman Randy Cox, '84, attackman Mac Ford, '95, attackman Dennis Goldstein, '91, midfielder Kevin Griswold, '82, defenseman Graham Harden, '91, defenseman Tom Haus, '87, attackman Harper Peterson, '70, goalkeeper Tom Sears, '83, midfielder Joey Seivold, '87, midfielder Peter Voelkel, '83, midfielder Jason Wade, '96, and midfielder Ryan Wade, '94.

Michael Thomas was the 1989 ACC Tournament Most Valuable Player.

Jeff Homire scores in the 1982 NCAA championship match versus Johns Hopkins.

The University of North Carolina

• The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century. Authorized by the N.C. Constitution in 1776, the University was chartered by the N.C. General Assembly Dec. 11, 1789, the same year George Washington first was inaugurated as president. The cornerstone was laid for Old East, the nation's first state university building, Oct. 12, 1793. Hinton James, the first student, arrived from Wilmington, N.C., Feb. 12, 1795.

• Now in its third century, Carolina offers bachelor's, master's, doctoral and professional degrees in academic areas critical to North Carolina's future: business, dentistry, education, law, medicine, nursing, public health and social work, among others. Offerings include 71 bachelor's, 107 master's, 74 doctorate and four professional degree programs.

• Through teaching, research and public service, Carolina connects with the people of North Carolina every day in ways that improve lives and build futures. The University is committed to addressing the issues that North Carolinians are concerned most about – such as education, health care and economic development. The University's focus on excellence is to help North Carolina be the best that it can be.

“If a moviemaker needs an idyllic setting for a film about college life, Chapel Hill might just take the prize.”

GEORGETOWN 62 R 1

Some of the most legendary names in sports – including Michael Jordan and Mia Hamm were Tar Heels before going on to great athletic success after graduation.

Athletic Heritage

- North Carolina has won more Atlantic Coast Conference titles than any other school in the ACC. The Tar Heels also have more national titles – 35 – than any other league school.

- UNC ranked No. 1 on STACK magazine's 2007 Elite 50 list, based on academics, athletic opportunity and overall performance

- Carolina finished third in the 2006-07 Directors' Cup, a national competition that measures a program's postseason success. It was Carolina's sixth consecutive top-10 finish and the eighth time UNC has been in the top five.

- Tar Heel gear annually is among the top-selling collegiate apparel in the country.

- UNC finished No. 1 in the 2006-07 All-Sport Rankings by Sports Illustrated on Campus.

Tar Heel fans, and Carolina students in particular, show great support for UNC's 28 varsity teams.

Coach Roy Williams and the Tar Heels won the 2005 NCAA men's basketball crown

The UNC baseball team has made it to the College World Series in each of the last three years.

Student-Athlete Services

Student-Athlete Services: Advancing toward graduation, Building Character and Developing leadership

Student-Athlete Services at the University of North Carolina encompasses three areas that play an integral part in the collegiate experience of every UNC student-athlete. Those three areas are Academic Development, Student-Athlete Development and Leadership Development.

• ACADEMIC DEVELOPMENT

The Academic Support Program is the main service utilized in advancing UNC student-athletes to graduation. The program assists student-athletes in exploring their interests and abilities, enjoying a broad educational experience, and reaching or exceeding their academic goals. "Our young people are students first and athletes second and that will always be the case at the University," says UNC Director of Athletics Dick Baddour. "That is a credit to our coaches, administrators and support staff, but most of all, our student-athletes. Their accomplishments in the classroom are very impressive."

During the 2007-08 academic year, 286 Carolina student-athletes made the ACC Academic Honor Roll, which requires a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 for the year. In the fall of 2006, 169 student-athletes made the Dean's List, and 134

The Academic Support Program is housed primarily in the Pope Academic Support Center, which is equipped with study facilities, tutorial rooms, a computer lab, a 128-seat auditorium, counselors' offices, and state-of-the-art video and computer equipment. At the center, students meet with staff to discuss course selection, major and career exploration, academic progress and academic eligibility.

The Academic Support Program helps freshmen transition from high school to college through a variety of academic programs such as academic counseling, individual tutoring, group review sessions and supplemental instruction.

• STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT

Building character in UNC student-athletes is the main charge of Student-Athlete Development. Through Carolina Outreach, Tar Heels are involved in a variety of projects and organizations on campus and in the community. The UNC Department of Athletics has partnered with Gatorade and the UNC School of Public Health for a national pilot program called Get Kids in Action, in which Tar Heel student-athletes visit local elementary schools to encourage children to exercise. The Carolina Dreams program allows young patients at UNC Children's Hospitals to attend Tar Heel sporting events with UNC student-athletes. Other recent activities have included building a house with Habitat for Humanity, cooking meals at Ronald McDonald House and cleaning up the roadways through the Adopt-a-Highway program.

Student-Athlete Development also seeks to develop student-athletes on a personal level through a variety of speakers who address issues like nutrition, gambling, relationship communication and substance use. Career Development helps UNC student-athletes look beyond college with resources such as career counseling and workshops on resume writing and interviewing skills.

• LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The primary outlet for Leadership Development is the Carolina Leadership Academy, started at UNC in 2004. As the nation's premier leadership development program in collegiate athletics, the Carolina Leadership Academy develops, challenges and supports student-athletes, coaches and staff in their continual quest to become world class leaders in athletics, academics and life.

The Academy consists of three programs:

CREED Program

Leadership training begins in the freshman year. All leadership begins with personal leadership, therefore freshmen are taught skills to effectively lead themselves.

Training consists of monthly meetings featuring keynote speakers and small group discussion. Upperclass student-athletes serve as peer mentors and discussion leaders. Special focus is on responsibility, accountability, making good choices, ethics and character building.

Rising Stars Program

Designed for a select group of "high potential" sophomores and juniors, the program provides future leaders with insights, strategies and skills necessary to become effective lead-

• STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

Under the direction of the UNC Olympic sports strength and conditioning staff, Tar Heel student-athletes get outstanding coaching intended to help maximize their physical potential. The staff evaluates Carolina student-athletes in a variety of ways, including the use of specialized software for lifting and running video analysis, to encourage steady progress toward reaching optimum preparation for competition. The men's lacrosse team trains at the Olympic sports weight room in Kenan Field House. In addition to top-of-the-line strength equipment, the Kenan-based center boasts a five-lane, 25-yard rubberized surface for teaching and performing warm-up activities, acceleration drills and agility movements. Year-round training produces athletes who are prepared to compete successfully and safely. Greg Gatz is the Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic Sports and oversees the program. Gatz's top assistant is Steve Gisselman. Eric Biener is the assistant strength & conditioning coordinator who works specifically with the Tar Heel men's lacrosse team.

UNC players Mark Staines, Chris Cortina, Ryan Kotowski and Sean Jackson were amongst 14 Carolina men's lacrosse players who spent a day working on a Habitat for Humanity project in Hillsborough, N.C. on November 15, 2008.

• SPORTS MEDICINE

The Tar Heel athletic teams, including the men's lacrosse squad, receive excellent care from one of the country's best sports medicine staffs. The University of North Carolina prides itself on the quality of its sports medicine program and spares no expense in providing top-flight medical care to all student-athletes.

Tim Taft

Dr. Tim Taft, Director of Sports Medicine, oversees a comprehensive program designed to keep student-athletes healthy and to rehabilitate any injuries quickly and successfully. Dr. Mario Ciocca is the physician who works directly with the men's lacrosse team. Dr. Jeff Spang serves as the team orthopaedic surgeon.

A member of the certified athletic training staff is present at all games and practices to ensure that any injuries receive prompt and proper care. Head certified athletic trainer Nina Walker oversees care for the men's lacrosse team and is assisted by certified athletic training graduate students Chun-Man Fong (2nd year with men's lacrosse) Evan Allen (1st year graduate student assistant trainer) and undergraduate assistant athletic trainer Catherine McGrady.

Veteran Leaders Program

This program is designed for team captains and veteran student-athletes. It provides advanced leadership training and support, teaches the critical skills and insights necessary to be effective vocal leaders and provides a strong peer network. Student-athletes meet regularly to learn and reinforce leadership principles and share successes, frustrations and lessons.

THE ANNUAL FUND

Donations through the Annual Fund offer The Rams Club the opportunity to meet immediate funding needs—primarily the funds needed to bridge the difference between the endowment's yield and the actual scholarship costs and other important projects for Carolina's student-athletes.

The Rams Club's Scholarship Endowment Trust is the largest athletic scholarship endowment in the nation. The Scholarship Endowment Trust is built upon gifts from Carolina supporters who have endowed Full or Half Scholarships in support of student-athletes which provide in perpetuity the support to a broad-based athletics program.

As the Rams Club's planned giving program, Carolina Forever offers donors an opportunity to make a lasting impact by involving Carolina Athletics in their estate planning. Carolina Forever's mission is to insure that the university continues to provide in perpetuity the unique opportunity to experience what it means to be a Tar Heel student-athlete in a broad-based athletics program.

SPORTS ENDOWMENTS

The Sport Endowments program provides additional funding for the operating budgets of each of the 28 sports. Donors can make gifts to an individual sport with the yield from that trust made available to the appropriate coach for use in budget-enhancing activities like recruiting, team travel, assistant coaches' salaries and more. With the gifts designated into an endowment, these gifts will provide a continuous stream of usable income in perpetuity.

THE RAMS CLUB

IT'S THERE. SOMETIMES IT'S SUBTLE.
OTHER TIMES IT'S AS OBVIOUS AS THE SKY ABOVE.

It can be in the tie that you wear to work, or the swoosh on your tennis shoes. It can be in the paint you choose for your family room, or on the car that you drive. It can be in the flag you hang from your front porch, or that championship t-shirt you wear to the gym. It's in all of us. We show it in different ways, but eventually it comes out – that streak of Carolina Blue deep inside us that drives our passion for the Tar Heels.

When you think about it, you likely Show Your Colors in many different ways – from the clothes you wear, to the items you'll find at home and in the office, to the way you get excited putting on that lucky hat before heading out to cheer for the Heels.

And maybe it's in the pride you feel when Carolina student-athletes excel like few others in college athletics. You can Show Your Colors in a life-changing way by being a part of The Rams Club – offering outstanding young men and women an opportunity to represent the University of North Carolina in competition, in the classroom and in the community. Your support through The Rams Club is integral in providing athletic scholarships to Carolina student-athletes, as well as outstanding facilities in which they can train and compete at the top level of college athletics.
