Supporting UNC Men's Golf

The University of North Carolina has a long-term agreement with Nike, which provides UNC teams with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other products. The contract, signed in 1994 and again in 1997, was extended for a period of eight more years beginning in July 2002. In addition to Nike products, the agreement provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the UNC athletic department to reward Olympic sport programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

2007-08 UNC Men's Golf Guide

The 2007-08 North Carolina men's golf media guide was designed and edited by Lee Snyder, athletic communications administrative assistant, with assistance from student assistant Jeff McLerran and the athletic communications staff.

The front, inside front and back covers were designed by Dana Gelin. The pictures on the front, inside front and back covers, pictures of this year's team and the aerial photos of UNC Finley Golf Course and the Chapman Center on the front and back covers and on page 8 were photographed by Jeff Camarati. The campus pictures on pages 20-23 were photographed by Dan Sears.

Special thanks to UNC Printing for their assistance.

Love shown here after his victory at The Players Championship in 2003.

Love at his induction into Carolina's Order of Merit at the 1997 Executive Cup.

For the first time in three years, the face of the North Carolina men's golf team will not be an All-America candidate from Chile. Yet while the Heels lost three-time All-America Martin Ureta to graduation, head coach John Inman feels that with a talented group of newcomers and a solid core of returning players there is no reason to temper expectations for the 2008 season.

"We have a lot of guys who can play at a very high level and a lot of leadership on this team," said Inman. "Our seniors have done a fantastic job. They have a great work ethic and we have a lot of guys following that example. I am really looking forward to the spring."

One of the seniors that Inman will rely heavily upon this season will be Kinston, N.C. native Barden Berry. Berry has consistently improved in each of his four seasons in Chapel Hill. After compiling a 78.33 stroke average as a freshman, Berry was down to 71.17 last fall.

Barden Berry

"Barden has just gotten better and better as he's worked and learned," said Inman. "He played quite a bit for us last year and played well for us. After he shot 65 that last round of the NAAs, he had nine of his next 11 rounds in the 60s. He had a great summer, came in and played really well in qualifying. He has gotten to the point where he knows he should be in contention every week."

Another senior who looks to have a prominent starting role is Reed Darsie. Darsie is the team's second-leading returning scorer from last spring. The Chapel Hill native also copped the team's best individual finish of 2007 with a tie for seventh in the Administristaff Augusta State Invitational.

"Reed is a solid player for us," said Inman, "and he's really going to want to put his mark on UNC golf during his last semester. He wants to go out with a bang. He's been working hard on his game and he's a guy who has played in a lot of tournaments for us and has a lot of experience. We are going to use that experience in the spring."

Junior Robert Riesen is the Tar Heels' top returning scorer carrying over a 73.85 average from last spring. In his career, Riesen has collected 11 top-15 finishes including a tie for third in the 2006 ACC Championship as a freshman.

"Robert started off a little slowly this fall, but he played really well the last three tournaments and had some good finishes," said Inman. "He has that belief, that look in his eye. He's ready to play. That is what we need. He lost a little bit of that confidence at the end of last year, but he has that back and he's ready to go."

After those three upperclassmen who started in each of the four fall tournaments, Inman has a myriad of candidates to choose to fill out his lineup each week. He can choose from a group of experienced veterans who have played numerous rounds and spent countless hours practicing at Finley Golf Course or Inman can turn to a highly-touted freshman class that looks to bring energy and a new look to the Heels' lineup.

"We have a lot of guys that are right there at that fifth, sixth, seventh spot," said Inman. "You need those guys to be there, working hard, getting in that lineup, then getting in there and taking advantage of that.”

Reed Darsie

The two players with the most tournament experience in competition for those two spots are sophomore David Holzworth and junior Chase MacFarland. Holzworth had an impressive freshman campaign with 11 rounds at par or better, including three straight under-par rounds leading to a second-place finish in the Coca-Cola Duke Classic. MacFarland has battled injuries for much of his two years in Chapel Hill, but he remains very talented as evidenced by his top-20 finish against a strong field in last year's International Collegiate.

“David has played quite a bit and he can shoot very low scores, but at times he can be inconsistent,” said Inman. “When he plays well, he is right there to win golf tournaments. Chase is coming off an injury and shoulder surgery last year. He played a little bit this fall and he needs to believe in himself. He has all the tools to get it done. He just needs to play some this winter and be ready to go in the spring.”

Seniors Josh Moore and Wallace Palmer, junior Ryan Holler, and sophomores Philip Chauncey and Michael Sedacca also have the mix of experience and talent to crack the starting lineup. Of the five, Holler and Moore have the most tournament experience and have been praised for their work ethic.

“Josh has really stepped up to fill that leadership role,” said Inman. “The leadership is kind of a quiet leadership, it's not such a vocal thing in golf as it is in other sports, but still very important. Ryan is another one who has played a couple tournaments as an individual and he has worked very hard on his golf game. His swing is beautiful right now. He is hitting the ball well and is concentrating on being more consistent with the putter. That's really the only thing holding him back.”

While experience has always played a factor in the Tar Heels; success, Inman hasn't shied away from playing a freshman if he has earned a spot. This year Inman may have recruited one of his best yet in Cary native Kevin O'Connell. In his first four tournaments as a collegiate, O'Connell has placed fourth, sixth, seventh and 15th. He also led the team in scoring average during the fall with 10 of his 12 rounds being played at par or better. O'Connell also had an astounding six of those 12 rounds in the 60s.

“Kevin is very confident in his abilities,” said Inman. “He's unflappable on the golf course. He plays his game and doesn't get caught up in anything else that is going on around him. That's a great attribute to have and I don't think you can teach that. He works hard and follows that standard of Barden Berry. He's one of the first ones here at the golf course every day and he goes through his routines and he loves the competition. He loves being in those situations. If you take the names off of it, you could almost put his name in there right where Martin's was.”

Rounding out the highly ranked freshman class are Henry Zaytoun and Matt Raudenbush. Both players enter Carolina with top notch junior records and were highly-sought after recruits. They will each play a key role for the Tar Heels in the very near future.

“Henry is working really hard,” said Inman. “He has been lacking confidence a little bit as he came in and played a couple rounds that weren't his best. But he realizes what it takes to play at this level, and he is going to play at that high level. Matt has incredible talent. He hits the ball forever, hits it a long way. He played really well in qualifying. He has the ability to step in there too. The future is very bright, not just in the years to come, but hopefully coming up this spring.”

Carolina is two years removed from their last ACC Championship, but the team sees no reason they can't compete to reclaim the title. They have set some lofty goals for themselves, but goals that Inman thinks are well within their reach.

“The guys get together and they want to win a tournament every semester and they want to win ACCs,” said Inman. “They want to win the nationals. They are working diligently on doing all the little steps. It's good to say you want to win this and win that, but then you have to do all the background work and be ready. They really feel they have the ability to do that. I agree with them. We're not here just to play well.”

The Carolina Order of Merit was established in 1991 by the University of North Carolina Department of Athletics and Golf Program to honor former players, coaches, administrators and friends who have distinguished themselves in the game and for their overall contributions to the golf program at the University. The contributions of these individuals have been of paramount importance in the growth of the program at UNC, and they are an integral part of the excellence of one of America's top collegiate golf programs.

The first two inductees, Jim Ferree and Harvie Ward, were inducted in 1991, Chuck Erickson and Bill Williamson were inducted in 1992, Bobby Galloway was inducted in 1993, Dot Gunnells and Ed Kenney were the inductees in 1994, John Inman was inducted in 1996, Davis Love III was inducted in 1997, Roger Perry was inducted in 2001, A.E. Finley and the Finley Foundation were inducted in 2002, Donna Andrews was inducted in 2003 and Woody Durham was inducted in 2007. The inductions take place at the Executive Cup Golf Tournament each year during the event's annual banquet.

DONNA ANDREWS

Donna Andrews, one of Carolina's top players, now plays on the LPGA Tour. A star on Tar Heel teams, 1986-89, Andrews was selected second-team All-America in 1989. During her collegiate career, she captured one championship, the 1988 Lady Paladin Invitational. She also finished third at the 1989 NCAA Championship, the best finish ever by a Carolina player in that prestigious event. Andrews was a two-time champion of the North and South Amateur, capturing that title in 1984 and 1988. She was selected in 2003 to the Atlantic Coast Conference 50th Anniversary Women's Golf Team.

Andrews, a past president of the LPGA, has been playing on the LPGA Tour since 1990. She also provides commentary for some events. She has captured six LPGA championships, including the 1994 Nabisco Dinah Shore Championship. She is a two-time member of the Solheim Cup, 1994 and 1998. Andrews finished in the top three in the 1992 and 1993 U.S. Women's Open Championships, a truly remarkable accomplishment.

WOODY DURHAM

Woody Durham, in his 37th year as "Voice of the Tar Heels", was inducted into the Order of Merit in 2007. He has participated in UNC's Executive Cup Golf Tournament and served as the emcee of the tournament's banquet since its inception in 1976.

Durham has received numerous broadcasting awards during his career. He has been honored 12 times as the North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year, the most recent in 2005. In 2004 he was inducted into the North Carolina Broadcasters Association Hall of Fame and in 2005 he was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame. In November 2000, Durham received the William R. Davie Award, the highest honor given by the UNC trustees. He has been honored or received awards from the UNC Athletic Department, the North Carolina High School Athletic Association, the UNC General Alumni Association, the Atlantic Coast Conference and the All-America Football Foundation.

In addition, Durham serves as co-chairman of the Carolina Kids Classic, which raises money for the Ronald McDonald House, the UNC Children's Hospital and the Childhood Trust.

Durham and his wife, Jean, reside in Chapel Hill. They have two sons, Wes, who is the play-by-play broadcaster for Georgia Tech and the Atlanta Falcons, and Taylor, who is the network affiliations manager for International Sports Properties in Winston-Salem, N.C.

CHUCK ERICKSON

A very famous name in Carolina athletic history is Chuck Erickson. He served as Carolina's men's golf coach for 23 years from 1935 till 1961, minus three years during World War II when the school fielded no team. In that span, his teams won five conference championships and placed second and fourth in the 1953 and 1960 NCAA Tournaments. Erickson coached three All-Americans, Harvie Ward, Bill Williamson and Bill Thornton, and one NCAA champion, Ward in 1949.

Erickson was also Carolina's athletic director, 1952-1968. During his tenure, the University broke from the Southern Conference and helped form the Atlantic Coast Conference. Erickson was directly responsible for the construction of UNC's own Finley Golf Course.

A native of Oak Park, Ill., Erickson graduated from Carolina in 1931 and was a star halfback on the 1928-1930 football teams. He was a recipient of the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame Award in 1970 and was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1992. Erickson passed away in 1977 after suffering a heart attack.

JIM FERREE

Jim Ferree played on Carolina's 1951-1953 golf teams and was the 1953 Southern Conference Champion. A native of Pine Bluff, N.C., Ferree played on the PGA Tour for 11 years, 1956-1966, and won the 1958 Vancouver Centennial. He was a fixture on the Senior Tour for many years, beginning in 1981. He won two tournaments on the Senior Tour – the 1986 Greater Grand Rapids Open and the 1991 Bell Atlantic Classic. In addition to his win at the Bell Atlantic Classic in 1991, he carded eight top-10 finishes.

A.E. FINLEY & THE FINLEY FOUNDATION

A.E. Finley and the Finley Foundation have been instrumental in all Tar Heel golf success with their generous and loyal support for over 50 years of the men's and women's golf programs. Finley was largely responsible for the original construction of Finley Golf Course which opened in 1949. The Finley Foundation remains an integral part of the A.E. Finley Executive Cup Golf Tournament which is an important part of the tradition of Carolina's golf program and a fixture on the schedule each year.

BOBBY GALLOWAY

Bobby Galloway was the fifth inductee into the Order of Merit. Galloway lettered for the Tar Heels in 1959 and 1960 and was captain in 1960 when Carolina won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship.

That same year, Galloway was a quarterfinalist at the NCAA Championships and led the Tar Heels to a fourth-place finish.

He turned professional in 1964 but not before he won the Winston-Salem City-County Championship on four occasions. He had his best PGA Tour finish in 1965 when he placed 10th at Memphis. Galloway was the Carolinas PGA champion in 1971. He won the North Carolina Open in 1972 and the National PGA Club Pro title in 1976. Galloway was the Carolinas Professional Golfer of the Year in 1976.

In 1980, Galloway regained his amateur status and has since won 10 tournament titles. He presently resides in Chapel Hill.

DOT GUNNELLS

Dot Gunnells, one of the premier coaches in the country during her tenure, was the head coach of Carolina's women's team for 18 years, 1974-1993. Gunnells was named Coach of the Year in 1993 by the National Golf Coaches Association. That same year, she was inducted into the National Golf Coaches Association Hall of Fame and was the recipient of the National Golf Coaches Association Gladys Palmer Award for contributions to golf outside the normal coaching responsibilities.

In 1985, Gunnells was named the ACC Coach of the Year and in 1992 she was selected the Mid-Atlantic/East Region Coach-of-the-Year. Her teams carded 11 national top-25 finishes, placed eighth at the NCAA Championship three times (1989, '92 and '93) and won the ACC Championship in 1992. She also coached five All-Americans.

JOHN INMAN

One of Carolina's greatest golfers, John Inman won the NCAA Championship in 1984 at Bear Creek Golf World in Houston, Texas. He broke Ben Crenshaw's NCAA record with a 17-under-par score which stood in the record books for 16 years. Inman was the second Tar Heel to win an NCAA Individual Championship, the first being Harvie Ward in 1949. Inman won the 1984 Fred Haskins Award as the National Player of the Year. He was a member of the World Amateur Team that same year and won the '84 Western Amateur. He was a three-time All-America (1982-84) and a three-time All-ACC performer (1982-84) during his four-year career (1981-84) as a Tar Heel. Inman captured five collegiate titles. Besides his NCAA title, he won the '83 Augusta College Invitational, '82 ACC Tournament, '82 Forest Hills Invitational and '81 Methodist Invitational.

He turned professional in 1985 and played on the PGA Tour for 12 years (1987-1998). While playing on the PGA Tour he won the 1987 Provident Classic and the 1993 Buick Southern Open. A native of Greensboro, N.C., Inman is in his 10th year as head coach of the Tar Heels and has already led Carolina to three top-10 NCAA finishes and an ACC Championship.

ED KENNEY

Ed Kenney served as the head professional at Finley Golf Course and also coached the men's team during 27 years with the University. He was the head pro at Finley and manager of the pro shop from 1949, the year the course opened, until he retired in 1976.

Kenney was the men's golf coach for 12 years, 1961-1972. His teams won over 71 percent of their matches and finished 12th at the 1962 NCAA Championship. His 1965 team captured the ACC Championship. Kenney also coached three ACC individual champions.

Kenney passed away in 2001, and a men's golf team award was established in his honor. It encompasses a player's attitude, academic and athletic contributions.

DAVIS LOVE III

One of Carolina's greatest golfers, Davis Love III, now stars on the PGA Tour. As a Tar Heel, Love was a three-time All-America and three-time All-ACC performer (1983-85). He was the ACC Champion in 1984, one of six individual titles he captured during his three-year career as he led the Tar Heels to 17 team championships. Love was selected to the 1985 Walker Cup team.

Love was an immediate star on the PGA Tour as he was named the 1986 PGA Rookie of the Year. Since then he has posted 19 PGA victories including the '97 PGA Championship and the '95 World Cup individual title. Love has been a five-time member of the World Cup Team (1992-95, 1997), a six-time member of the Ryder Cup Team (1993, 1995, 1997, 1999, 2002, 2004) and a six-time member of The Presidents Cup (1994, 1996, 1998, 2000, 2003, 2005).

ROGER PERRY

Roger Perry is a great friend and supporter of the Carolina golf program and was inducted into the Order of Merit in 2001. Perry served as chairman of Carolina's Executive Cup Golf Tournament for three years and was co-chairman of the fundraising campaign for the recent $10 million redesigning and construction of UNC Finley Golf Course and the Chapman Center.

Perry, a real estate developer and president of East West Partners Management Company, Inc. in Chapel Hill, has served on numerous local and national fundraising committees and charities.

Perry is a 1971 graduate from Carolina and presently resides in Raleigh.

HARVIE WARD

One of the most celebrated golfers in Carolina's history is Harvie Ward. A member of the Tar Heel 1947-1950 golf teams, he was Carolina's first All-America in 1949 and was the NCAA Champion that same year, defeating Oklahoma's Bo Winninger, LSU's Gardner Dickinson and Notre Dame's Tommy Veech before dispatching Texas' Morris Williams Jr. in the 36-hole final, 5 and 4. However, he gained national prominence a year earlier when he won the 1948 North and South Amateur. A virtual no-name nationally when he entered the tournament, he sent Arnold Palmer and former U.S. Amateur Champion Dick Chapman home before edging international star Frank Stranahan in the 36-hole final, 1-up. Estimated crowds, upwards of 2,000, came to the the famed Pinehurst #2 as fraternity brothers, teammates, coeds and others formed a caravan from Chapel Hill to Pinehurst to cheer the happy-go-lucky Ward on to victory.

Ward was the 1950 Southern Conference Champion and following graduation he won the 1952 British Amateur, the 1954 Canadian Amateur and the 1955 and 1956 U.S. Amateurs.

A native of Tarboro, N.C., Ward spent much of his life as a businessman and golf pro in California before semi-retiring and moving to Pinehurst. He passed away in September 2004.

BILL WILLIAMSON

Bill Williamson played on Carolina's 1951-1953 teams. He had an outstanding season his senior year as he was the runner-up in the NCAA Tournament in 1953. He led the team to a second-place finish that year, the Tar Heels' first top 20 finish, and was named to the All-America team, becoming Carolina's second All-America in history.

Williamson is a former chairman of Carolina's Executive Cup Golf Tournament and is an active booster of the Tar Heel golf program. In the fall of 2004, the men's and women's practice range, greens, etc. were dedicated and named the Williamson Golf Team Practice Facility. A businessman who resides in Charlotte, Williamson was co-chairman of the fundraising campaign for the recent refurbishing of UNC Finley Golf Course.

A.E. FINLEY EXECUTIVE CUP

The A. E. Finley Executive Cup remains an important part of the tradition of the Carolina golf program and a fixture on the schedule each year.

Formerly the Carolina Executive Cup, this tournament now carries a name to recognize an individual who has meant so much to Tar Heel Golf. In addition to providing funds for the original construction of the golf course and facilities, his estate has donated money for the annual trophy given to the tournament winners and also for the banquet held after the competition.

This annual tournament is an opportunity for supporters of Carolina golf to play with past and present Carolina golfers, coaches and University officials. This tournament is more than just a fundraiser, for it is a homecoming for former players to renew old acquaintances and establish new friendships.

The A. E. Finley Executive Cup, which had its start in 1976, provides vital funds for an endowment from which both golf teams may draw additional revenue for travel expenses. Since the men's and women's teams play national schedules, which take them all across the country to face tough competition, the A. E. Finley Executive Cup is pivotal in helping maintain the Tar Heel program at the top of collegiate golf.

The appearances of golfing legend Jack Nicklaus in the 1980, '81 and '83 events are highlights of the tournament's history, as he thrilled all spectators and contestants with a clinic he conducted after each tournament.

At the 1997 event, which was held at UNC's Finley Golf Course, Davis Love III was inducted into Carolina's Order of Merit for all of his contributions to the Carolina Golf Program.

The inaugural Executive Cup in 1976 was played at the Country Club of North Carolina in Pinehurst, N.C. The tournament was moved to Grandfather Mountain a year later and was played there for one year (1977) before returning to the Country Club of North Carolina for two more years (1978-79). Beginning in 1980 it was played at UNC's Finley Golf Course and continued to be played there through 1990. After a four-year stint at the Governors Club (1991-94), the event returned to UNC Finley Golf Course where it is still played today. The 2007 winning team was John Spelman, Jim Cooper, Fred Palmer, Mark Andrew and Wallace Palmer.

Golfing legend Jack Nicklaus' clinics were a highlight of past Executive Cups.

UNC Finley and Chapman Center

UNC Finley Golf Course is once again one of the premier college facilities in the nation. Traditionally recognized as one of the most beautiful courses in the southeast, Finley recently received a facelift that makes it one of the most challenging as well.

Internationally renowned golf course designer Tom Fazio designed the new UNC Finley Golf Course, which reopened November 1999. It features a completely different layout, yet some of the best aspects of the old course were retained.

The new course features a par 72 layout with five sets of tees ranging from 4,981 yards from the forward tees to 7,187 yards from the championship markers, thus presenting a stiff challenge to the best golfers while still remaining accessible to those of all skill levels. Tees, greens and fairways were built and planted to the highest standard, while a state-of-the-art irrigation system and exceptional drainage maintains the quality of the course. In addition, the practice range was expanded and rebuilt and the clubhouse and snack shop underwent extensive renovations.

Carolina's golf teams also have a new team facility, the Chapman Golf Center which opened in November 2001. The 4,500-square-foot facility houses offices for the men's and women's golf coaches, men's and women's locker rooms, a team meeting room and a reception area. A Hall of Honor which honors former Carolina players and coaches is planned for the future. There is also a climate controlled individual teaching area with two hitting bays and a state-of-the-art teaching system. At the far end of the range adjacent to the team facility is the Williamson Golf Team Practice Facility used exclusively by the men's and women's golf teams. In addition to a practice range, there are putting and chipping greens as well as bunkers so the teams can hone their short games. All of these superb facilities are located just a couple miles from Carolina's campus.

UNC Finley Golf Course, originally designed by George Cobb and built by Raleigh businessman A. E. Finley, opened in 1949. Three holes were added in the early 1980s, also designed by Cobb, and the clubhouse underwent renovations in 1988.

Over the years, Finley has been host to many collegiate, high school and amateur competitions. Finley also plays host to the annual A. E. Finley Executive Cup Tournament and to championships conducted by the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

UNC Finley Golf Course is located off Highway 54 in Chapel Hill. It is frequented by Carolina students, faculty and staff as well as many alumni of the University
