Supporting UNC Women's Tennis

The University of North Carolina has a long-term agreement with Nike, which provides UNC teams with shoes, apparel, equipment bags and other products. The contract, signed in 1994 and again in 1997, was extended for a period of eight more years beginning in July 2002. In addition to Nike products, the agreement provides $100,000 annually to the Chancellor's Academic Enhancement Fund for undergraduate teaching and $100,000 annually to the UNC athletic department to reward Olympic sport programs and coaches for academic and athletic excellence.

Media and fans can follow the Carolina women's tennis team and the rest of the UNC athletic program from anywhere in the world on the official site of North Carolina athletics.

TarHeelBlue.com offers schedules, rosters, results and more for all 28 of Carolina's varsity sports.

Currently in his sixth season at the University of North Carolina and his 16th season overall as a collegiate head coach, Brian Kalbas has led the Tar Heels through one of the most successful runs in school history. Highlighted by just the second trip to the NCAA Quarterfinals in school history in 2005 and its first NCAA tennis title in 2007, UNC has advanced to the NCAA Tournament all five years under Kalbas.

Kalbas and the Tar Heels rose to the top of the collegiate tennis world in 2007 when seniors Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long defeated Megan Moulton-Levy and Katarina Zoricic of William & Mary to claim the NCAA Doubles Championship. The title capped an incredible season for the duo that saw them reach No. 1 in the nation and earn National Doubles Team of the Year honors from the ITA, as they became the first Tar Heels, male or female, to win an NCAA tennis title.

UNC had yet another highly successful season in dual match play in 2007. Carolina finished third in the highly-competitive ACC, a league which produced all three NCAA women's titles during the year (singles, doubles, team). The Tar Heels were also named a host site for NCAA first and second round action, and they defeated Marist and rival Duke to advance to the Sweet Sixteen in Athens, Ga., where they fell in a heartbreaking 4-3 decision to Notre Dame.

Carolina reached a new team pinnacle in 2006, earning a national ranking of No. 3, the highest in program history. The Tar Heels advanced to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the second straight season, falling to Duke in the Round of 16. With a final record of 26-7, UNC posted its highest win total since the 1981-82 squad finished 26-14. Kalbas was named the Wilson/ITA Southeast Region Coach of the Year for his efforts.

The 2004-05 season was capped by a dramatic run to the NCAA Quarterfinals. After finishing 7-3 in Atlantic Coast Conference play, the Tar Heels earned the right to host the first and second rounds of the NCAA Team Championships. Carolina opened the tournament with a 4-0 victory over Richmond. UNC then defeated rival Duke 4-0 for a trip to the Sweet Sixteen. Playing in just its third Sweet Sixteen, Carolina opened with a 4-0 upset of fourth-ranked Vanderbilt. The Tar Heels finished one win away from the Final Four, falling to Clemson 4-1 in the quarterfinals.

Kalbas served as head coach of William & Mary's women's tennis team for 11 years before accepting the head coaching position at Carolina in the summer of 2003. At William & Mary, Kalbas posted a 214-85 overall record and was named the 1998 ITA National Coach of the Year.

Kalbas' teams have seen great success against ranked opponents. Since 1995 his teams have defeated 24 teams ranked in the Top 10 of the ITA poll, highlighted by a win over No. 2 Florida in 2006 and a win

Career Highlights

- 1998 ITA National Coach of the Year
- Five-time ITA Regional Coach of the Year
- Four-time CAA Coach of the Year
- Coached Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long to the 2007 NCAA Doubles title, the first NCAA title in the history of Carolina tennis
- Coached 10 All-America players to 20 total All-America honors
- Coached three ITA Arthur Ashe Award winners
- Won nine CAA titles in 11 seasons at W&M
- His teams have defeated 24 top-10 opponents in 16 seasons
- Coached teams to the NCAA quarterfinals three times over No. 2 and eventual NCAA champion UCLA in 2008. Under Kalbas' direction, 15 of his teams have been ranked in the Top 15 in the country.

Kalbas was a four-time Colonial Athletic Association Women's Tennis Coach of the Year, winning the honor in 1995, 1996, 1999 and 2002. He was recognized as the ITA Regional Coach of the Year four times during his tenure at W&M.

He piloted his William & Mary teams to nine CAA Championships, the most recent being in 2002. Kalbas also coached William & Mary to two NCAA quarterfinals appearances. Under Kalbas' direction at William & Mary and Carolina, he has coached a total of 10 All-Americans, the most recent being current junior Sanaz Marand, who defeated the No. 1 player in the nation twice as a sophomore and finished 2008 with just two singles losses. Carolina placed two players on the 2008 All-ACC team, Marand and fellow sophomore Katrina Tsang.

Both Tsang and Marand qualified for the NCAA Singles tournament in 2008 and Marand partnered with Sophie Grabinski to earn a doubles bid. This continued a great run of success on the NCAA level for players under Kalbas. He helped guide three singles players (Long, Tsang and Marand) and two doubles pairs (Anundsen/Long, Marand/Caitlin Collins) to NCAA play in 2007, marking the most Tar Heels ever to earn invites to the NCAA individual tournaments. Carolina also had more NCAA participants than any school in the nation in 2007. Long was also named the ITA Senior Player of the Year for her accomplishments in 2007.

In 2005, Kendall Cline and Aniela Mojzis both received national awards from the ITA. Cline was awarded the ITA/Cissie Leary Sportsmanship Award and Mojzis received the ITA/Arthur Ashe Award for Leadership and Sportsmanship, marking the first time in ITA history that one school won both awards. Mojzis is the third player to win the national Arthur Ashe Award under Kalbas' leadership. Carolijn van Rossum and Jessyca Arthur both won the award while Kalbas was coaching at William & Mary.

In 2007, Kalbas was tabbed to lead the United States team at the 2007 Pan American Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, July 13-29. Kalbas fronted a team of three of the nation's best collegiate players, including Atlantic Coast Conference standout and NCAA champion Audra Cohen of Miami.

Kalbas is a 1989 graduate of the University of Notre Dame, where he was a four-year varsity player, playing at the No. 1 and No. 2 spots in singles. He was captain of the Fighting Irish men's tennis team his senior year and received the most valuable player and sportsmanship awards from Notre Dame. After graduation, Kalbas served as an assistant coach for the Notre Dame men's tennis team from 1989-92. During his tenure, the Fighting Irish made their way to the Top 20 for the first time in school history, and, in 1992, the Irish reached the NCAA Championship match.

Kalbas and his wife, Suzanne, reside in Chapel Hill with their two children, Sarah, 18, and Joseph, 9.

In the summer of 2007, Kalbas was tabbed to lead the United States at the Pan American Games in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Kalbas fronted a team of four of the nation's best collegiate players, including Atlantic Coast Conference standout Audra Cohen of Miami.

Former NCAA doubles champion and two-time All-America performer Sara Anundsen was named assistant coach for the North Carolina's women's tennis team in the summer of 2008. Anundsen, a 2007 UNC graduate, combined with Jenna Long to win the 2007 NCAA doubles title - the first national championship in program history. Anundsen, who spent the 2007-08 season as an assistant at Princeton, replaces former assistant Tari Ann Toro.

"I'm thrilled to bring Sara back to Chapel Hill and back into our program," Kalbas said. "She was such an incredible competitor during her playing days and I know she will bring that competitive fire to our current squad. She will be a great presence for our team both on and off the court. I am confident that her passion and love for UNC will be an asset as she helps recruit future NCAA champions."

Anundsen earned All-America honors in 2006 and 2007, and helped lead the Tar Heels to a pair of Sweet Sixteens and an Elite Eight. A native of Littleton, Colo., Anundsen teamed with Long to capture the 2007 NCAA doubles title after falling in the national semifinals in 2006. The duo finished the 2007 season 29-6 and was named ITA National Doubles Team Of The Year. By virtue of their NCAA title, Anundsen and Long also earned a wild card berth into the 2007 U.S. Open.

Following the graduation of three dynamic senior captains in Caitlin Collins, Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long, it would have been reasonable to expect a rebuilding season for the North Carolina women's tennis team in 2007-08. Anundsen and Long were each multiple-time All-America performers and capped their incredible careers with the first NCAA women's tennis title in school history. Certainly, a let down in the upcoming season could be forgiven. But that was never an option for the 07-08 Tar Heels, who further cemented their status as one of the nation's elite programs.

ANOTHER STANDOUT FALL SEASON KEEPS THE MOMENTUM

As has become the norm, Carolina was once again strong during the fall tournament season in 2007. Sanaz Marand kicked off what would prove to be a very memorable sophomore season by winning the top flight of the St. Mary's Classic in Knoxville. The Katy, Texas, product then won three qualifying matches to advance to the main draw of the ITA All-American Championships.

The ITA Southeast Regionals would prove to be another showcase event for the Tar Heels, with Marand, Austin Smith and Jelena Durisc all advancing to the main draw round of 16. Marand would eventually advance to the quarterfinals and receive an at-large bid to the national tournament. She would also team with Sophie Grabinski to advance to the regional final. The duo would eventually win the consolation title at ITA Nationals, marking Marand and Grabinski as one of the nation's top doubles tandems.

TAR HEELS HAVE MAGICAL RUN AT ITA TEAM INDOORS

Carolina won four of five matches to begin the spring dual-match season before playing in what has become an annual event for the Tar Heels, the ITA National Indoor Championships in Madison, Wis. While the tournament has been a great success for UNC for the last several seasons, the 2008 edition would truly be one to remember.

The Tar Heels drew UCLA in the opening match of the event, and the traditionally-powerful Bruins were ranked No. 2 in the nation entering the tournament. But UNC won the crucial doubles point, and Marand, Durisc and Meg Fanjoy each secured singles wins to give the Tar Heels a stunning win. The victory over the second-ranked Bruins matched a 2006 win over Florida as the best in school history in terms of opponent ranking.

Just one night later, Carolina shocked another Pac-10 powerhouse, as the Tar Heels took down No. 8 USC, 4-3. Junior Laura Reichert's thrilling win over Maria Sanchez at No. 5 singles ended the dramatic match putting the Tar Heels into the semifinals at the ITA Nationals for the first time in school history. Reichert, who needed three hours to complete her dramatic win, joined Marand, Katrina Tsang and Smith as singles winners for UNC. The team's amazing run would finally end a night later at the hands of No. 3 Northwestern.

The two upset wins would vault the Tar Heels all the way to No. 5 in the nation in the next ITA poll.

CAROLINA ENJOYS SPRING BREAK IN PUERTO RICO

After wrapping a challenging February schedule with a home win over No. 15 Notre Dame and starting ACC play with a pair of 7-0 wins over Maryland and Boston College, the Tar Heels traveled to San Juan, Puerto Rico, for Spring Break. In addition to a pair of non-conference wins over East Carolina and Princeton, the Tar Heels enjoyed a week of relaxation and fun in the Caribbean before returning home for the stretch run.

UNC ONCE AGAIN A MAJOR PLAYER IN THE CROWDED ACC

Carolina was thrown into the fire of the highly-competitive ACC right away upon returning from Spring Break, as the Tar Heels hosted traditional powers Georgia Tech. After dropping a hard-fought 5-2 decision to the defending NCAA champion Yellow Jackets, UNC scored an important victory over a strong Clemson squad thanks to a rally by Tsang.

After dropping the first set to Estefania Balda at No. 2 singles, No. 27 Tsang won five straight games in the second stanza to even the match at a set each. With the final set knotted at 4-4, Tsang broke Balda and served out the match for a 2-6, 6-2, 6-4 victory to secure the Tar Heel victory. Carolina would close league play with five wins in six matches, finishing with a 7-3 dual match record.

TAR HEELS EARN TEAM, INDIVIDUAL NCAA BIDS

Carolina won its opening-round ACC Tournament match over Maryland, but was eliminated a day later by eventual conference champion Clemson, 4-2. That left the Tar Heels to wait for an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, which was granted on April 29. UNC was named the No. 15 overall seed in the event and hosted a regional for the fifth consecutive season. The host Tar Heels opened the tournament with a 4-0 win over South Carolina State before bowing out to Arkansas in the second round, 4-3.

In addition to the team bid, Marand and Tsang each earned bids to the individual singles tournament, and Marand and Grsbinski were selected to the doubles event.

MARAND EARNS ALL-AMERICA HONORS WITH AMAZING 07-08

While the Tar Heels were in the midst of another strong team season, Sanaz Marand was putting together one of the greatest individual seasons in school history. Along with junior Sophie Grabinski, Marand ascended to as high as No. 3 in the nation in doubles, earned an NCAA bid and finished the year ranked No. 21 in America.

But singles play was where Marand really shined. The sophomore compiled an amazing 25-2 record during the spring season, including a 24-1 mark in dual match play. Marand was an All-ACC selection after finishing league play with a record of 9-1 primarily at the No. 1 position. Her outstanding regular season also earned her the ITA Southeast Region Player to Watch honor and a spot as a finalist for the national award.

Perhaps the most amazing feat of Marand's incredible season came in the final few weeks of the campaign. Marand defeated then-No. 1 Ani Mijacika of Clemson, 6-4, 6-1, in the ACC quarterfinals. Then just two matches later, Marand defeated the nation's top player once again, downing Arkansas' Aurelija Miseviciute in three sets, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2. Miseviciute and Mijacika finished the season No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in the ITA national poll.

With a final national ranking of No. 13, Marand was named to the 2008 ITA Women's All-America team, becoming the ninth player in school history to earn All-America honors.

Through its teaching, research and engagement, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill serves as an educational and economic beacon for the people of North Carolina and beyond.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was the nation's first state university to open its doors and the only public university to award degrees in the 18th century.

The American Society of Landscape Architects selected Carolina as one of the most beautifully landscaped spots in the country. That listing is among the praise affirming the charm of mighty oaks, majestic quadrangles, brick sidewalks and other landscaping synonymous with the campus.

Today, the campus is undergoing an unprecedented physical transformation. The North Carolina Higher Education Bond Referendum has meant more than $515 million for renovations and new buildings. The university is investing funds from non-state sources, including private gifts and overhead receipts from faculty research grants, for other buildings essential to excellence. The resulting $1.8 billion capital campaign is among the largest underway at any major American university.

Recently completed buildings include:

- FedEx Global Education Building, which brings several key international activities under one roof and advances a major academic priority. The building is creating a vibrant hub of international studies, academic services, research, public service and cultural exchange.
- Memorial Hall reopened in 2005 after a three-year, $18 million renovation designed to make the famed venue a focal point for the performing arts across the region. Memorial Hall hosts the Carolina Performing Arts Series. Spring 2009 performers will include Wynton and Branford Marsalis, the Neville Brothers and the Bolshoi Ballet.
- The Sonja Haynes Stone Center for Black Culture and History opened in 2004, becoming one of the few such facilities nationwide combining cultural programs, research, community service, teaching and learning under one roof. Funded by private donations, the Stone Center contains classrooms, a 10,000-volume library, seminar rooms, an art gallery, dance studio and spaces for performances, lectures, meetings and offices.

Rankings:

- Fifth best public university in U.S. News & World Report's 2007 "Best Colleges" guidebook for the sixth consecutive year. First among public campuses for the second consecutive year.
- Among 25 "New Ivy" campuses in the 2007 Kaplan/Newsweek "How to Get into College Guide." Includes schools with first-rate academic programs fueling their rise in national stature. Reports Newsweek: "If a moviemaker needs an idyllic setting for a film about college life, Chapel Hill might just take the prize."
- First among major U.S. universities – for the sixth time in eight years – in the percentage of African-American students in the first-year class, according to The Journal of Blacks in Higher Education.
- 32nd in the 2006 "Black Enterprise Top 50 Colleges for African Americans" list. Based on surveys with more than 500 African-American education professionals about which schools were both a good academic and social fit for African-Americans.
- Kenan-Flagler Business School ranked 15th in BusinessWeek magazine's list of the best undergraduate business programs.

- In fall 2006, Carolina enrolled more than 27,700 students from all 100 North Carolina counties, the other 49 states and more than 100 other countries. Eighty-two percent of Carolina's undergraduates come from North Carolina. These students learn from a 3,200-member faculty. Many of those faculty members hold or have held major posts in virtually every national scholarly or professional organization and have earned election to the most prestigious academic academies and organizations.
- The Carolina First Campaign is a comprehensive, multi-year private fund-raising campaign – the largest in the university's history – to support the vision of Carolina becoming the nation's leading public university. The drive, which ended Dec. 31, 2007, broke its $2 billion goal on Feb. 21, 2007. The campaign is having a major impact with new funding for major priorities including students, faculty, research, campus facilities, strategic initiatives and the university endowment.
- The Class of 2010 – 3,816 students – represented 99 N.C. counties, 40 states and 23 countries. Seventy-six percent were in the top 10 percent of their high school class; nearly 40 percent were among the top 10 students. Almost 12 percent were a valedictorian or salutatorian. More than 85 percent graduated with a grade-point average of 4.0 or higher. The average SAT score was 1293, with 22 percent scoring 1400 or better.

Franklin Street is the heart of Chapel Hill. Running along the north edge of campus, it provides a mix of restaurants, stores and nightlife and also is the site of celebrations and gatherings. Tar Heel fans mobbed the downtown to celebrate UNC's NCAA men's basketball championship in 2005, and each year Halloween festivities draw thousands of revelers.

The best recipe for a college town — beyond coffeehouses, live music and browse-worthy bookstores — calls for equal measures of youth, academic vigor and civic pride. Townies actually appreciate the college crowd, and vice versa. "Both wind up enhancing each other," says Edward Castard, lead author of The Princeton Review's The Best Colleges. As fall sets campus towns stirring with life, Castard cuts 10 worth a visit.

Some of the biggest names in their sports – including Mia Hamm, Lawrence Taylor and Michael Jordan – wore Tar Heel uniforms before they went on to great success after college.

- UNC finished 14th in the 2007-08 Directors' Cup, a national competition that measures a program's postseason success. Carolina has finished in the top 10 in six of the last seven seasons and has been in the top 5 on eight different occasions.

- Tar Heel gear is annually among the top-selling collegiate apparel in the country.

- UNC finished No. 1 in the 2006-07 All-Sport Rankings by Sports Illustrated on Campus.

- North Carolina has won more Atlantic Coast Conference titles than any other school in the conference. The Tar Heels also have more national titles than any other ACC school.

Coach Roy Williams and the Tar Heels won the 2005 NCAA men's basketball title.

UNC baseball has reached the College World Series in each of the last three seasons, finishing as the national runner-up twice.

Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long captured the 2007 NCAA Doubles Championship.

UNC Sports Medicine and Strength & Conditioning

The Tar Heels' medical care and conditioning is overseen by professionals who are among the best in their fields.

Dr. Tim Taft, Director of Sports Medicine at UNC, leads a top-notch staff that works to keep student-athletes healthy and to rehabilitate any injuries quickly and successfully. Dr. Kelly Waicus is the head physician for the women's tennis team.

Athletic training staff members are present at all workouts to insure that injuries receive prompt and proper care. Sally Mays is the Head Athletic Trainer for women's tennis and is assisted by athletic training graduate students Sonia Gysland and Eric Bengtson and undergraduate assistant Craig Oates.

North Carolina's players benefit from a comprehensive program designed to keep them in peak physical condition. The Tar Heels conduct their strength training in the Olympic Sport weight room at UNC's Kenan Fieldhouse. Steve Gisselman, Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach, is in his sixth year as a full-time strength coach at UNC, and is assisted by Melissa Glyptis and Eric Biener.

The Tar Heels make use of modern strength, flexibility and conditioning methods in a year-round training cycle, the result of which is a superbly conditioned team.

Dr. Kelly Waicus
Head Team Physician

Dr. Kelly Waicus has been a team physician at the University of North Carolina since 2005. Originally from Moorestown, N.J., she received her undergraduate degree from Duke University followed by her medical degree from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1995. After completing a residency in Pediatrics at Children's Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, she returned to Chapel Hill for her Sports Medicine fellowship which she completed in 2001. She is board certified in Pediatrics and has a certificate of added qualification in Sports Medicine.

Dr. Waicus is the primary team physician for volleyball, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's track and field, women's tennis, women's lacrosse, cheerleading, and JV basketball.

Dr. Tim Taft
Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Tim Taft is the Director of Sports Medicine at UNC.

A native of St. Louis, Taft received his A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1964 and his M.D. from the University of Missouri in 1969. He completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Carolina in 1974.

Taft holds one of only two endowed professorships in sports medicine in the United States, the Max Novich Distinguished Professor of Sports Medicine chair. He is the president of the Council of Delegates for the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine.

Sally Mays
Head Athletic Trainer

Sally Mays has served as one of the staff athletic trainers for Fetzer Athletic Training Room which provides sports medicine services for twenty four varsity sports since 1997. She is the Head Athletic Trainer for wrestling, volleyball and men's and women's tennis. She also provides care to patients in the Physical Therapy/Athletic Training Clinic at Campus Health Services.

Mays received a bachelor's degree in secondary education and athletic training from Washington State University in 1986. She then received a master's degree in athletic training from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in 1989. For five years she was the Head Athletic Trainer and Strength and Conditioning Coach for the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. She also taught athletic training classes and supervised undergraduate athletic trainers in an internship program.

He assists the Director of Strength and Conditioning for Olympic Sports, Greg Gatz, in the daily operation of the Olympic Sport weight room. His primary responsibilities include developing and implementing strength and conditioning programs for field hockey, women's lacrosse, softball, women's tennis, women's golf, men's golf, and the multi-event athletes and jumpers in track and field.

In his tenure at UNC Gisselman has worked with teams that have won ACC Championships in field hockey, track and field, swimming, men's golf and women's tennis. Along with those championship teams he has worked with multiple individual ACC champions and NCAA All-Americans and has been privileged enough to work with a select few NCAA champions and Olympians.

Gisselman utilizes technological innovations to enhance the functional assessment of each athlete and to aid in designing exercise prescriptions for improving athletic performance and concomitantly reducing the incidence of injury. He has incorporated digital media and a number of computer software programs to improve his coaching abilities since arriving at UNC.

Melissa Glyptis

Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach

Melissa Glyptis is primarily responsible for the development and implementation of strength programs for cheer-leading, men's and women's cross country, men's and women's fencing, gymnastics, rowing, and men's tennis. She is also responsible for conditioning women's tennis, men's and women's fencing and gymnastics and assists with other sports' strength and conditioning programs under the direction of Director Greg Gatz.

Glyptis earned her M.S. from the University of Akron in Sport Science and Coaching. She received her B.S. from Kent State University majoring in Physical Education/Exercise Science, with a concentration as an Exercise Specialist.

Eric Biener

Assistant Strength and Conditioning Coach

Eric Biener has been part of the University of North Carolina's Olympic Sports strength and conditioning staff since 2005. His primary responsibilities include assisting with the design and implementation of strength and conditioning programming for baseball, men's lacrosse, men's and women's soccer, track and field (sprint/hurdle), volleyball, and wrestling. He also assists with the men's and women's fencing teams, as well as rowing.

While gaining experience in the field, Biener earned his bachelor's degree from UCF in Sports & Fitness (2005) and his master's degree from the University of North Carolina in Exercise Physiology (2007). He also holds certification from the National Strength and Conditioning Association (CSCS).

leadership academy

developing world-class leaders

As the nation's premier leadership development program in collegiate athletics, the Carolina Leadership Academy develops, challenges and supports student-athletes, coaches and staff in their continual quest to become world class leaders in athletics, academics and life.

The Academy consists of three programs:

CREED Program

Leadership training begins in the freshman year. All leadership begins with personal leadership, therefore freshmen are taught skills to effectively lead themselves.

Training consists of monthly meetings featuring keynote speakers and small group discussion. Upperclass student-athletes serve as peer mentors and discussion leaders. Special focus is on responsibility, accountability, making good choices, ethics and character building.

Rising Stars Program

Designed for a select group of "high potential" sophomores and juniors, the program provides future leaders with insights, strategies and skills necessary to become effective leaders. The program includes monthly meetings, interactive exercises and action learning experiences.

Veteran Leaders Program

This program is designed for team captains and veteran student-athletes. It provides advanced leadership training and support, teaches the critical skills and insights necessary to be effective vocal leaders and provides a strong peer network. Student-athletes meet regularly to learn and reinforce leadership principles and share successes, frustrations and lessons.

Carolina CREED

As a University of North Carolina student-athlete, I pledge to make every effort to abide by the Carolina CREED as a show of my commitment to the University, the Department of Athletics, my team and myself.

C - I will know and embrace the tradition and CULTURE of this great University and its athletics department

R - I will RESPECT myself and others

E - I will pursue EXCELLENCE in my academic work by striving to reach my academic potential while preparing for a career of significance

E - I will EXCEL athletically by committing myself to performance excellence, team success and continual improvement

D - I will DEVELOP the capacity to effectively lead myself and others

Jeff Janssen

Co-Director and Lead Instructor, Carolina Leadership Academy

Widely considered the nation's top expert on sports leadership, Jeff Janssen helps Carolina's coaches and student-athletes become world-class leaders in athletics, academics and life. Janssen is the founder of the Janssen Sports Leadership Center and the author of The Team Captain's Leadership Manual, The Seven Secrets of Successful Coaching and Championship Team Building. He also works with Fortune 500 companies, helping them gain a competitive advantage in the corporate world.

John Blanchard

Co-Director, Carolina Leadership Academy
Senior Associate Director of Athletics

John Blanchard is in his 22nd year at UNC and his sixth as Senior Associate Director of Athletics. He serves as Director of Student-Athlete Services, overseeing UNC's academics, student-athlete development and leadership programs.

Blanchard is a graduate of Stanford University, where he played football and was an All-West Conference free safety. He earned a master's in social work from San Diego State.

academic excellence

the foundation for a lifetime of success

Advancing toward graduation, Building Character, Developing Leadership

Brent Blanton
Academic Advisor

Brent Blanton joined the University of North Carolina's Academic Support Program for Student-Athletes in January of 2005 after three years at the University of Southern California. Prior to working at USC, he worked for three years at Florida State University.

At Carolina, Blanton oversees the Olympic sports program, including directly advising the men's golf, wrestling, women's soccer, field hockey, softball and women's tennis programs. He also oversees the Academic Team Captains and tutorial programs.

Blanton and his wife, Robin, have a son, Cary, and twin daughters, Ashlyn and Abigail.

The Academic Support Program assists student-athletes in exploring their interests and abilities, enjoying a broad educational experience, and reaching or exceeding their academic goals. "Our young people are students first and athletes second and that will always be the case at the University," says UNC Director of Athletics Dick Baddour. "That is a credit to our coaches, administrators and support staff, but most of all, our student-athletes. Their accomplishments in the classroom are very impressive."

The Academic Support Program is housed primarily in the Pope Academic Support Center, which is equipped with study facilities, tutorial rooms, a computer lab, a 128-seat auditorium, counselors' offices, and state-of-the-art video and computer equipment. At the center, students meet with staff to discuss course selection, major and career exploration, academic progress and academic eligibility.

Faculty Athletics Representative

Dr. Jack Evans is in his 12th year as UNC's faculty athletics representative to the Atlantic Coast Conference and the NCAA.

A former dean of the Kenan-Flagler Business School, he is the Phillip Hettleman Professor of operations, technology and innovation management. He currently serves as Executive Director of Carolina North.

Evans is a graduate of Cornell University, where he earned his undergraduate, master's and doctorate degrees.

cone-kenfield tennis center

The Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center, which is home to both the women's and men's tennis teams, was dedicated in September 1992 in keeping with the University of North Carolina's tradition of offering quality facilities for its student-athletes. The indoor/outdoor facility is adjacent to the UNC Finley Golf Course and behind the Friday Center on N.C. Highway 54 in Chapel Hill.

The facility is named for Ceasar Cone, II, a 1928 alumnus of the University who played tennis at Carolina and was a great benefactor of the school. The center also bears the name of John Kenfield, the legendary Tar Heel men's tennis coach who had a sterling record of 434-30-2 from 1928-55. Kenfield's teams won 15 Southern Conference and two Atlantic Coast Conference team championships during his tenure. He coached the likes of Bitsy Grant, Wilmer Hines and Vic Seixas at UNC, and his 1948 team finished third in the country. Kenfield was Carolina's first-ever tennis coach, and he took over the leadership of the UNC team in time to coach Cone in his senior season in 1928.

The $2 million complex includes:

- Six indoor and 12 outdoor, lighted hard surface tennis courts
- Spectator viewing on the upper level of the indoor center
- Men's and women's varsity dressing facilities
- Public and visitor dressing facilities
- Fully-equipped weight-training rooms for both varsity teams

Other recent additions include an electronic scoreboard for the outdoor courts, additional stadium seating at the outdoor courts and a new electronic scoreboard for the indoor courts beginning in 2008. UNC has hosted NCAA Tournament play in each of the last seven years, with the Tar Heel women advancing to the NCAA Sweet 16 after home victories in three of the last four seasons. In the five years under head coach Brian Kalbas, UNC has posted an overall record of 61-11 at the Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center.

Dick Baddour Director of Athletics

Dick Baddour, a 1966 graduate of the University of North Carolina, was named Director of Athletics on June 25, 1997. In his 12 years as director, the UNC Department of Athletics has undergone a number of changes, yet remains one of the premiere programs in the Atlantic Coast Conference and in the nation.

The Goldsboro, N.C., native heads a program that with 28 varsity sports is the largest in the ACC. The Tar Heels have won 58 ACC championships during his tenure, 11 more than Duke, which is second. Nineteen different UNC men's and women's sports have won conference titles during his tenure. UNC has led the league in team championships in seven of the last 11 seasons.

Baddour is in his 42nd year of continuous service to the university. He graduated from UNC in 1966 and was appointed Assistant Dean of Men in 1967. He served as Assistant Dean of Admissions and Assistant Dean of the UNC School of Law and also earned a Master of Arts degree in education prior to joining the athletic department in 1986.

In 2001, he received the Distinguished Service Medal from the UNC General Alumni Association.

Active in Chapel Hill community affairs, he is a past president of the Public School Foundation and has served on the Parks and Recreation Commission. He and his wife, Lynda, have two sons, Allen and David, and a daughter, Jennifer.

Dr. Beth Miller Sr. Associate Director of Athletics

Beth Miller is in her 24th year supervising North Carolina's highly-successful 26-team Olympic Sports program and serves as UNC's Senior Woman Administrator. She is a 1968 alumna of Appalachian State University with a B.S. degree in health and physical education. She has a master's from ASU and earned a Doctor of Arts degree in physical education at Middle Tennessee State in 1974.

From 1969-72, Miller served as the head volleyball and basketball coach at Appalachian State. She became head volleyball coach at UNC in 1975 and led the Tar Heels to four consecutive ACC titles from 1980-83 and five post-season tournament appearances. She also coached softball at Carolina from 1978-79.

In 1979, Miller was named Athletic Business Manager. She retired from coaching volleyball after 1983, but continued to handle all financial affairs for the department through 1987. She has overseen UNC's Olympic Sports program since 1985.

Miller currently serves on a number of Atlantic Coast Conference committees, including those for women's basketball, women's golf and volleyball. She chairs the Awards Committee and the Senior Woman Administrators Committee. She also serves on UNC's Housing Advisory Board.

Miller is a native of Landis, N.C.

Department of Athletics Mission Statement

The Department of Athletics has offered high quality athletic programs for many years. Through a dedicated commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the student-athletes, coaches and staff strive to bring credit and recognition to the University.

The mission of the Department is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop, and to serve the interests of the University by complementing and enhancing its diversity and quality of life. Coaches, as educators, are foundational to this process. In keeping with the University's efforts to offer programs of regional and national acclaim, the Department's athletic programs strive for competitive excellence within the Atlantic Coast Conference or other similar institutions. Through its athletic programs, the University seeks to unite students, faculty, staff and alumni in a common and shared experience. The Department seeks to contribute to the diversity of the University by offering opportunities for enhanced racial/ethnic, cultural and geographic representation.

To fulfill this mission, the Department, with the approval of the Board of Trust, has developed principles of operation to provide guidance and direction to its personnel. This Mission Statement and accompanying principles require strong dedication and commitment from all who participate in, coach in and support the Department of Athletics.

Department of Athletics Statement on Gambling

The mission of the Department of Athletics is to sponsor a broad-based athletic program that provides educational and athletic opportunities for young men and women to grow and develop. In keeping with the Department's mission and the University's commitment to educational interests, competitive athletic programs, and integrity in all areas, the Department of Athletics strongly condemns the influence of gambling on intercollegiate athletics.

Student gambling is a significant issue on college campuses. Student-athlete involvement in gambling has produced many tragic situations, both for student-athletes and the universities they represent. Student-athletes often compete in contests that generate interest from those involved in gambling and, possibly, organized crime. If given the opportunity, those interests will not hesitate to exploit the position student-athletes hold on college campuses. As such, the University of North Carolina is firmly opposed to all forms of gambling and bribery related to intercollegiate athletics.

To fulfill its educational obligation, the Department provides a gambling education program to all its student-athletes and departmental staff members. This statement and the educational program are reflections of the Department's commitment to keeping intercollegiate athletics free from the influences of gambling and its related activities.

The Department requires its staff members and student-athletes to adhere to NCAA, state and federal laws regarding gambling. In the interest of fair competition and the growth and development of student-athletes, the Department strongly urges its friends and supporters to refrain from gambling/betting on contests involving collegiate competition and to abide by state and federal laws.

NORTH CAROLINA TAR HEELS

2009 Women's Tennis Media Guide

HISTORY AND RECORDS

Laura Reichert

Hanes Harris

Sophie Grabinski

Meg Fanjoy

The women's tennis program has a long-standing tradition of excellence in the overall women's athletics program at the University of North Carolina, beginning with legendary head coach Frances Hogan and continuing into the first decade of the New Millennium highlighted by standout players the likes of Marlene Mejia, Kate Pinchbeck, Kendall Cline, Aniela Mojzis, Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long. Although Hogan was involved at the roots of the program, it has been players of more recent vintage who have kept Carolina in the national spotlight.

Hogan, the former women's athletic director at Carolina, was the guiding force during the game's early years on the Chapel Hill campus. As the first head coach of Tar Heel women's tennis teams since the 1940s, she spurred interest in the sport by instituting North Carolina Women's Tennis Day in 1958, a yearly fixture for collegiate and prep aficionados of the sport around the state. Despite limitations on match play, Hogan was instrumental in ensuring the team played a full schedule. Her tennis team was the first women's sports team at the University to travel out of the state to compete. In 1970, prior to the advent of Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women-sponsored women's tennis at the collegiate level which did not come until 1971, Hogan coached the late Laura DuPont to the United States Lawn Tennis Association's collegiate singles championship. During that same year, Carolina posted a national ranking of sixth place in the USLTA collegiate ratings.

Eight women's sports at North Carolina, including the tennis program, were officially elevated to varsity status in 1971, when Carolina became a charter member of the newly-formed Association For Intercollegiate Athletics For Women. The eight sports as varsity entities were under the supervision of the Physical Education Department until October 1974, when the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics took over supervision of all Carolina varsity sports—men's and women's at UNC.

That fall, Camey Timberlake was awarded the first-ever women's athletic scholarship for any sport at the University. She went on to capture the Atlantic Coast Conference championship at No. 2 singles during the fall of 1977 in the first-ever ACC women's sports championship event of any kind.

After the sport came under the direction of the athletic department, Hogan coached the first two tennis teams to outstanding 13-1 and 13-2 records in 1975 and 1976, respectively. During the 1976 season, Hogan guided the Tar Heels to a No. 16 national ranking and the team won the Southern Collegiates in Columbus, Miss. by defeating Rollins College in the final.

When Hogan retired from coaching in 1976 to concentrate full-time on her senior women's administrator duties, she was replaced by Kitty Harrison, who continued to build the success of the Tar Heel program for over two decades. Eight of Harrison's 21 teams were ranked among the Top 25 nationally. Under Harrison's direction, Carolina won four ACC championships in a row in the 1970s and 1980s and finished as the league runner-up four other times. Harrison retired after the 1997-98 season as the winningest tennis coach in ACC history at the time in terms of dual-match victories.

Carolina was a force to be reckoned with during the days of AIAW competition from 1971 until the organization was disbanded in 1982. The Tar Heels won the NCAIAW Tournament three straight times from 1979 to 1981. In 1982, they avenged a 6-3 loss to Duke in the state tournament by defeating the Blue Devils 7-2 to capture the AIAW Southern Region II title. The Tar Heels earned a bid to the AIAW national tournament three times, finishing 15th in 1979, 11th in 1981 and 17th in 1982.

There were numerous outstanding players during Harrison's tenure, including three first-team All-America selections. Kathy Barton was an AIAW first-team All-America in 1982. Cinda Gurney, a three-time ACC Player of the Year, was an All-America in singles in both 1992 and 1993. Gurney and Alisha Portnoy combined to earn first-team All-America honors in doubles in 1993. As a senior, Gurney advanced to the NCAA championship match without losing a set in any of her five preliminary matches in the field of 64. She completed that year seventh individually in singles in the ITA rankings and achieved the highest rating ever by a Carolina player in singles when she was ranked third nationally in December of 1991.

Former Tar Heel men's tennis standout Roland Thornqvist, an All-America and ACC Player of the Year as a player at UNC, took over the team's coaching duties in 1998 and led UNC to its first ever NCAA Tournament berth and subsequent victory. Thornqvist spent three successful years at the helm of the Tar Heels, finishing with a 42-30 record and Carolina's first three NCAA tournament appearances in 1999, 2000 and 2001. Although only a sophomore in 2001, Marlene Mejia earned ITA All-America honors in singles, helping the Tar Heels earn a Top 20 ranking that season. Following the 2001 season, Thornqvist left Carolina to take over the coaching reigns at Florida.

Five years ago, under coach Jen Callen, the Tar Heels won the ACC Championship, advanced to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Tournament for the first time in school history, finished fifth in the country, its highest ever ranking, and had a sparkling 25-5 record. Pinchbeck earned first-team All-America honors after advancing to the quarterfinals of the NCAA Championships.

In 2003, Brian Kalbas was named head coach. In his first five seasons, the Tar Heels have seen tremendous success. Kalbas has led the Tar Heels to NCAA Tournament appearances in each of his first five years at Carolina including in 2005 when the team matched its best finish in the NCAA Tournament ever, advancing to the quarterfinals. It was only the second time a Carolina team has gone that far in the tournament.

The Tar Heels have produced five All-America selections during Kalbas' tenure. Aniela Mojzis was an individual All-America selection in 2004 and teamed with Kendall Cline to earn All-America honors in doubles in 2005. Mojzis and Cline also earned national awards from the Intercollegiate Tennis Association in 2005. Cline was awarded the ITA/Cissie Leary Sportsmanship Award and Mojzis received the ITA/Arthur Ashe Award for Leadership and Sportsmanship, marking the first time in ITA history that one school won both awards. In 2006, Sara Anundsen and Jenna Long earned All-America honors as one of the nation's top doubles pairs. That tandem capped its stellar career by winning the 2007 NCAA Doubles Championship, giving Anundsen and Long the first NCAA tennis title in UNC history. Sanaz Marand became the latest Tar Heel All-America performer in 2008, a season in which she lost just one singles dual match and defeated the nation's top-ranked player twice in the span of three weeks.

Over the years, Tar Heel players have won 33 conference titles in singles, including four by Gurney, three by Jennifer Balent and two each by Janet Shands, Margie Brown, Lloyd Hatcher and Gigi Neely. Brown teamed with Betsy Heidenberger for two of her three doubles titles, and the duo of Shands and Betty Baugh Harrison were as tough to beat in the late '70s as Gurney and Portnoy were during the 1992-93 season when they won the ITA Clay Court Doubles Championship, earned a national No. 1 ranking after the fall season and finished the spring season ranked fourth in the country.

Despite playing some of the country's toughest dual-match schedule year in and year out, Carolina teams continue to win with regularity. Only on six occasions has the Tar Heel women's tennis program suffered a losing season while competing as a varsity sport.

The UNC women's and men's teams celebrate their double victory at the 2002 ACC Championships in Raleigh, N.C. The women's team beat Duke to end the Blue Devils' run of 14 consecutive ACC titles. The men's squad captured its 25th title with a victory over Georgia Tech.

THE ANNUAL FUND

Donations through the Annual Fund offer The Rams Club the opportunity to meet immediate funding needs-primarily the funds needed to bridge the difference between the endowment's yield and the actual scholarship costs and other important projects for Carolina's student-athletes.

The Rams Club's Scholarship Endowment Trust is the largest athletic scholarship endowment in the nation. The Scholarship Endowment Trust is built upon gifts from Carolina supporters who have endowed Full or Half Scholarships in support of student-athletes which provide in perpetuity the support to a broad-based athletics program.

As the Rams Club's planned giving program, Carolina Forever offers donors an opportunity to make a lasting impact by involving Carolina Athletics in their estate planning. Carolina Forever's mission is to insure that the university continues to provide in perpetuity the unique opportunity to experience what it means to be a Tar Heel student-athlete in a broad-based athletics program.

SPORTS ENDOWMENTS

The Sport Endowments program provides additional funding for the operating budgets of each of the 28 sports. Donors can make gifts to an individual sport with the yield from that trust made available to the appropriate coach for use in budget-enhancing activities like recruiting, team travel, assistant coaches' salaries and more. With the gifts designated into an endowment, these gifts will provide a continuous stream of usable income in perpetuity.

THE RAMS CLUB

IT'S THERE. SOMETIMES IT'S SUBTLE.
OTHER TIMES IT'S AS OBVIOUS AS THE SKY ABOVE.

It can be in the tie that you wear to work, or the swoosh on your tennis shoes. It can be in the paint you choose for your family room, or on the car that you drive. It can be in the flag you hang from your front porch, or that championship t-shirt you wear to the gym. It's in all of us. We show it in different ways, but eventually it comes out – that streak of Carolina Blue deep inside us that drives our passion for the Tar Heels.

When you think about it, you likely Show Your Colors in many different ways – from the clothes you wear, to the items you'll find at home and in the office, to the way you get excited putting on that lucky hat before heading out to cheer for the Heels.

And maybe it's in the pride you feel when Carolina student-athletes excel like few others in college athletics. You can Show Your Colors in a life-changing way by being a part of The Rams Club – offering outstanding young men and women an opportunity to represent the University of North Carolina in competition, in the classroom and in the community. Your support through The Rams Club is integral in providing athletic scholarships to Carolina student-athletes, as well as outstanding facilities in which they can train and compete at the top level of college athletics.
